

Ukraine -- Fighting Back by Targeting the Real Enemy

by Luis Friday, Feb 28 2014, 9:34am

international / prose / post

If you're fighting a war it would seem appropriate to target the enemy not the next door neighbour's cat or people wearing military costumes, yes? The most underreported event of the US backed coup in the Ukraine is that Bankers have once again entered the fray and have frozen the liquid and other assets of the Ukrainian president Viktor Yanukovich and other members of his family! We should recall how banks rushed to freeze (steal) the assets of Libya's Col. Gaddafi prior to his murder by US proxy assassins -- "we came, we saw, he died!" But that is not the half of it, recall how Banks intervened in what was clearly none of their business (or was it ?) to starve Julian Assange of funds -- now isn't that interesting, Jethro?

However, Yanukovich is not the REAL target of the Banks! In the strategic global 'chess' game being played-out as I write, the REAL message Banks are delivering is to Putin, who has foolishly deposited most of his corruption money and other assets in European and Caribbean banks -- ya wouldn't wanna know, would ya, morons, you deserve everything you get because you're not smart enough to save yourselves and we sure ain't gonna waste our time saving a bunch of mindless retards?

However, we offer the following accurate advice to the bovine herd: you beat this enemy by going for its jugular, the oligarchs, plutocrats, mega-financial houses and banking institutions of the WORLD -- remember the only good rogue/banker is a DEAD rogue/banker!

Why would anyone allow themselves to be debt-enslaved by interests that print unpegged, worthless paper/digital money from thin air? That is the hard reality, MORONS. Bankers have openly engaged in 21st century warfare on numerous occasions, by consequence they are LEGITIMATE TARGETS. It now becomes imperative to target those interests that fuel all the wars, coups and other political intrigues and rid this planet of this destructive pestilence forever.

Postscript:

We are really enjoying watching corrupt Putin squirming in the bind he has created for himself -- his generals have said enough is enough, the Ukraine is the last straw; Putin is stuck, he is unable to play-act and de-fuse the situation for his western masters so he is being reminded to be a good little mouse/puppet or risk losing all his dirty money -- LOL.

[The analytical tools used to arrive at the above correct assessment are semiotic theory and the Eastern principles of Matrika Shakti.]

<http://tinyurl.com/nhklvfd>