Really, when two bought and owned corrupt political puppets attempt to intimidate each other all we could do is laugh hysterically! Of course we could egg on this absurd theatre of fools, puppets and faggots -- like, hit him with your handbag Barack or squeal like a mouse Vladimir or we'll freeze all your assets which you foolishly left in Western controlled banks. But we prefer to laugh over this ludicrous turn of anticipated events.

Obama

A little background info may help. Putin is indeed shitting bricks at the moment but not due to anything puppet Obama has been scripted to say; Putin is terrified western banks will freeze his corruption money as they did with Yanukovich's funds. Putin is acutely aware that Russia is no place for a penniless former western controlled traitor. Memories of globalist bankers freezing then stealing Gaddafi's billions in cash and gold, haunt Putin, who just sat by and watched NATO fly 26,000 air sorties over Libya killing thousands of innocent civilians he swore to protect. We truly hope that the Russian military that now largely control the direction Russia is taking, forces the issue and Putin loses all his dirty blood money.

But the best was listening to the divorced from reality press statement Obama was forced to make; a few choice irrational statements follow, but it may help to remember that America openly admitted to killing over 500,000 Iraqi children with sanctions and embargoes that deprived the nation of the most basic medical supplies and equipment -- former US Secretary of State, Albright admitted responsibility (guilt) -- when questioned over this horrific crime against humanity she responded with, "it was worth it!" But we wouldn't want to open the door and let reason and reality into the room, would we? Think about that when Obama warns Russia not to commit lesser crimes.

Note that US officials openly admit war and other crimes against humanity and yet the Hague courts fail to act or even reprimand the USA, partial courts? Nah!

Obama insists that the people of the Ukraine should make their own determinations over the future of their irreconcilably divided nation. Very good, Barack, while you're at it, allow the people of Afghanistan, Pakistan, Iraq, Serbia, Libya, Somalia, Yemen and numerous other interfered with nations to ALSO determine their own anti-American futures, you hypocritical, tragic, moron homosexual!

The video (below) of Obama's pathetic address also mentions that the sovereignty of nations must be observed -- maybe in the same way the USA observed the sovereignty of Yugoslavia, Iraq, Libya, Pakistan and Afghanistan, you demented dunce, try and remember the WORLD does not drink America water, Barack! ["We came, we saw, he died!" Yet another indictment admitting to an assassination.]

Puppet of the globalist plutocracy, Obama, also mentions violations of International Law; that's a good one, as we can't think of one law the USA hasn't broken dozens of times!

Bear in mind the above thinly veiled irrational threats are all directed at Putin the mouse, who is still recovering from the direct personal threats and abuse to his face delivered by an inbred Saudi prince who threatened to disrupt the Olympics with terrorists he controlled in Syria and other parts of the world.

Now comes the direct unveiled threat from faggot Obama and he's very lucky he is not dealing with a man at this stage -- that black, cocksucking, faggot then musters the hide to say there would be "costs" if the Russian military intervened in the Ukraine -- at this point in his monologue of unreason I would remind readers of the numerous proven illegal military interventions the USA has conducted throughout the world over the past decade alone.

"COSTS," did you say, C-O-S-T-S you piece of servile dog shit? Remember you are NOW dealing with my comrades in the Russian military, not bought and owned Putin the mouse.

We'll give you fuckin' COSTS, cocksucker, closer than your rose garden -- and you will see it coming!
