on the anniversary of 9/11

On the anniversary of the world's most infamous false flag operation, 9/11, Obama's handlers scripted some classic remarks for their puppet president, which not only betray the fact that Americans have memories that seem to be wiped clean every 24 hours but also, faced with flagrant tissue-thin LIES and the facts that exposed them, REALITY continues to evade average Americans.

Following are some choice anniversary comments from Obama and some FACTUAL inserts:

"As painful as this day is - and always will be - it leaves us with a lesson, that no single event can ever destroy who we are, no act of terrorism can ever change what we stand for," Obama said. Now consider national government surveillance of all private digital communications, X-Ray (porno) body scans at airports or genital pat-downs from TSA perverts who were previously unemployable! Nah, no act can change who we are and what we stand for, in your dreams, Obama! Should we add 'indefinite detention' without charge or trial and presidential/mafia style secret 'kill lists'?

Nah, nothing's changed, get the NSA out of my emails and phone calls and your hand away from my wife's and daughter's vaginas, if you please!.

"Instead we recommit ourselves to the values that we believe in," Obama [unwisely] said; like making a mockery of rights and liberties, the Constitution and Bill of Rights!

"Americans had come together and dealt a crippling blow to the organisation that brought evil to our shores." Latest reports do not indicate that MOSSAD has suffered any negative impact whatsoever!

"That's why, when the history books are written, the true legacy of 9/11 will not be one of fear or hate or division." Only perpetual war, illegal invasions, extra-judicial assassinations/regime change and the maniacal pursuit of PNAC or global American hegemony. But of course the history books have already been written and the event is now a proven criminal fraud!

"Even now, all these years later, it is easy for those of us who lived through that day to close our eyes [remain in denial] and to find ourselves back there and back here," Obama said. Huh, back where, again?

"... when Americans everywhere held each other tight, seeking reassurance that the world we knew wasn't crumbling under our feet." -- the world before 9/11 is finito, gone completely, disintegrated by the war on the noun, 'terror' and Americans continue to cringe in irrational fear.

White House propagandists will hopefully do better next anniversary -- if you ALL haven't been jailed beforehand!
