

Hit' em with your handbag, Barack!

by stane Wednesday, Mar 19 2014, 12:00am

international / prose / post

Issues with the poofter puppet US president aside for the moment; the Russian Duma has responded to the west's ILLEGAL asset freezes, sanctions and financial attacks on personal and state sovereignty by passing a motion that invites the US and EU to extend their asset freezes and sanctions to all Russian MPs -- a typical slavic response; we recall Yugoslav civilians holding small targets on their chests in defiance of NATO and the US illegally bombing a CIVILIAN capital city in Europe, Belgrade; notwithstanding that Yugoslavia was always allied to the UK and US but what would modern American regimes know of civilised behaviour and traditional alliances? Over the past fifteen years the US and NATO have allied themselves to known Islamic extremists and fascist groups that fought with Hitler's Nazis during WWII, so if it walks and quacks like a duck, it ain't no fuckin' chicken!

Barack 'where's my script' Obama

TODAY we are clearly NOT dealing with the democratic USA of post WWII, instead, the world is confronting a mass murdering, lawless, terrorist state run by gangsters -- obvious fact! Recent history spells it out -- 500,000 dead Iraqi CHILDREN was "worth it" according to the sociopathic Clinton regime at the time and over one million civilian dead (a modern holocaust) and five million displaced persons in Iraq was, to the criminal White House, an acceptable price to pay for an illegal intervention and the overt theft of other nations' precious resources. [Undisguised] gangsterism is as gangsterism does, make no mistake, WORLD!

However, the elite Russian leadership, particularly Putin are known western pawns though Putin finds himself in a rather awkward position today. Note how he allowed the US/NATO and EU to encroach on Russia's borders with missile 'defence' systems and how Putin surrendered, without lifting a finger, former Russian allies to western interests, well now it's Russia's turn and quoting international law and precedents like Kosovo as examples, means absolutely nothing to the gangsters that control the Hague courts; so get over it Russia, and RETALIATE IN KIND, that is, with every dirty covert western trick and the sophisticated covert ops of the former Soviet Union, who were without peer in covert ops around the globe -- we know you haven't forgotten how just remove or ignore the obstacles, like corrupt Putin and his cronies.

The west has already sent in its snipers and killed two in the Crimea, need we make another alert? Now consider the soft western underbelly and how a unified operation in a number of US/NATO occupied nations, particularly Serbia -- that could reclaim Kosovo in a week -- Libya, Syria, Lebanon, Iraq and a host of other occupied and strategic nations included, and how easy it would be to create a monumental headache for western forces, which would probably lose their TENUOUS hold on stolen territories and be forced to leave PERMANENTLY -- if they want fuckin' trouble, give it to them, cos they ain't gonna stop unless STOPPED! Doh! Translate that into Russian and shove it down the throats of less patriotic or bought Russian parliamentarians.

Local populations would be right behind ANYONE that offers them support -- are you reading this China, or do you want to lose another plane? Occupied peoples everywhere would relish the opportunity to rid themselves of the civilian-killing terrorist scourge that occupies their homelands -- ASSIST LOCAL COMMUNITIES TO EJECT THE VILE FILTH THAT CONTINUES TO BRUTALISE AND MURDER INNOCENT PEOPLE AND RAPE THE WEALTH FROM SOVEREIGN LANDS AND SEAS. The simple but highly effective tactics outlined would force America to lose almost everything outside its shores; soft/compliant vassal states excepted -- only lackey states like Australia, NZ, Canada, Germany, Italy, France and the UK would remain in the fold and they are no contest for a united nuclear supported WORLD!

Need I continue? Obviously not, as your military men and skilled covert agents would inform you. RESPOND IN KIND to the US/NATO; swiftly and decisively tip the precarious balance against them, ensuring that a respectable number of (sitting duck) Wall St and European plutocrats are eliminated in the process -- they will all shit and withdraw or face the consequences of an irradiated future -- they are cowards at heart and cowards fear death, warriors embrace it!

Report from RT follows:

Russian lawmakers ask President Obama to impose sanctions on them all staff report via stane

The State Duma has passed a motion suggesting that the US and EU extend the freshly introduced sanctions to all Russian MPs rather than a limited group of officials, defying western pressure just hours before Russia and Crimea signed a federation treaty.

The motion was supported by a unanimous vote on Tuesday morning. It was prepared the day before by all four parliamentary parties after representatives of the United States and the European Union said they were slapping sanctions, such as visa bans and asset freezes, on a number of Russian officials who are seen as "key ideologists and architects" of the policy towards Ukraine.

The State Duma motion reads that the US President's decree was limiting the rights of Russian citizens and that similar discriminatory measures were approved by foreign ministers of the EU nations.

In a speech MP Mikhail Markelov (Fair Russia) called the move by the US State Department, President Obama and the European Union "an absurd attempt", and suggested that the US punished all lower house members. "As long as they stress that MP Lyudmila Mizulina is on the blacklist, they should also impose sanctions on all 436 MPs who voted for the law that protects our children from gay propaganda," Markelov noted.

A day earlier, after first reports about the new sanctions the head of the lower house committee for family issues Lyudmila Mizulina said that she was perplexed by her addition to the list. "The decision is puzzling - although we've expected sanctions - because I don't have any accounts or real estate abroad, nor do my family members live abroad...Why was particularly I included?" the lawmaker said in press comments.

Deputy Markelov also said in his Duma speech that Russian politicians cannot be intimidated by Western sanctions as previous examples of their application demonstrate that such measures are hardly effective. "They tried it before in Serbia, Belarus, Syria. But these nations have not lost their dignity, have not lost their identity, they remain united and independent countries," the deputy said.

"Our position is extremely clear and honest. We never betray our own. We will never betray the Russian-speaking citizens and simply the citizens who live on the territory of Crimea, who have made a decision to be with Russia forever," Markelov told the parliamentarians.

"As for the sanctions, today any sanctions will only unite our political elite, because our businessmen and the common people have always united before external threats, regardless of their political views," the MP added.

Commenting on the parliamentary motion an Russian presidential aide Yuri Ushakov said that everyone in Russia was tired of sanctions adding that the western measures only caused irony or even sarcasm. He refused to answer the question if Russia planned any reciprocal steps.

Hours after the State Duma passed the motion President Vladimir Putin, Crimea's Prime Minister Sergey Aksenov, Chairman of the Crimea nlegislature Vladimir Konstantinov and Sevastopol Mayor Aleksey Chaly signed the federation treaty between the Crimean Republic and Russia. Putin asked the Russian parliament to ratify the treaty making both Crimea and the city of Sevastopol new federation subjects.

© 2014 "TV-Novosti"

<http://rt.com/politics/russian-duma-sanctions-crimea-594/>

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-1061.html>