

Ukraine: trigger events and the collapse of nations

I am referring to the thoroughly inept buffoons in Washington and the dissociated, clearly divorced from reality, plutocrats that control them. I would say without the slightest reservation or hesitation that your time has come and your nightmare show is all but over; radical remedial action (though highly unlikely) to save the situation, excepted.

Serving and former inept puppet presidents

Burning in European leaders' minds is the bombshell comment, "Fuck the EU," a US 'diplomatic' reference to European 'allies,' which only confirms what everyone already knew, that the USA is a rogue, self-serving nation that only pretends alliances when it suits its purposes -- in actual fact the USA has no friends other than insignificant vassal states, like knee-walking Australia and similar tragic nations with thoroughly incompetent (and treasonous) governments completely devoid of the skills required for independent national leadership.

The Ukraine fiasco has been brewing since the 90's with the active help of my Serbian comrades, but fascist forces were not able to take the capital until today BUT as the world has just witnessed, the REAL capital is located in the hearts and RATIONAL minds of the population, Napoleon learnt as much to his very great cost!

Kiev is a hollow and meaningless space today run by a few neo-Nazi thugs and their dissociated pathological American supporters. Where has all the nation's gold and cash reserves gone, vanished into US vaults never to return, no doubt -- ask yourself what happened to Libya's plundered billions in gold and cash after US/NATO gangsters plundered and pilfered that previously viable North African nation?

I am not about to give the game away at this critical stage, however, I would state the obvious (to a few); watch Russia and its proven method of waging an effective defensive campaign of 'retreat' and then watch Barack Napoleon's forces fail and break the home nation, which has extended itself beyond all feasible limits/measure.

While America was myopically pursuing its intoxicating militaristic agenda of mass murder, destruction and plunder, certain forces were very subtly arranging for its demise; the precipice upon which America precariously balances today is the result of careful planning and very subtle management. Today all we need do is continue our support of the American far right and the freedom fighters in oppressed and US occupied nations to force puppet Obama's hand in the Ukraine -- doing so would ensure the end of US global influence for centuries.

So my lovelies, keep doing what you've been doing successfully for over a decade, ensure that the rabid neocon right has the broadest possible media exposure and engineer to have it assume power in the not too distant future; do this while applying huge pressure on now worthless puppet Obama -- who is worth more to his masters assassinated than alive!

O and btw -- Sarah Palin knows how to suck a mean cock, you thoroughly inept dunces -- final victory is a breath (or suck) away! OTPOR/CANVAS is a double-edged, SERBIAN sword you stupid creeps. Believe or don't believe, either way we win, can YOU determine how? Forces in occupied nations have been waiting for the day to mount synchronised strikes against child murdering cowardly invaders.

A greedy, impatient, brutal rustic opponent is always defeated by patience, perseverance, sophistication and stealth. The bottom line is simply this, we are SMARTER than you! You never had a chance, the American strategy reduces to 'bomb or buy,' tragic in its lack of options and skills!

America, you have earned your fate and we cannot thank you enough for being your own worst enemy. Now keep your eye on all your occupied territories!
