Look who's offended by the abduction -- not murder -- of Nigerian school girls, Michelle Obama, wife of "war criminal" and "hypocrite of the century," according to HONEST Irish parliamentarian, Clare Daly.

Bring Back 500,000 US killed Iraqi children and thousands of Drone Murdered INNOCENTS!

".. “my husband and I are outraged and heartbroken over the kidnapping of more than 200 Nigerian girls from their school dormitory,” said Michelle Obama in a vain attempt to grab a favourable headline for the most reviled couple on the planet. But let's conveniently IGNORE the thousands of innocent children, women and other innocents your husband has killed with DRONE ATTACKS -- you despicable, reprehensible FRAUD and INEPT LYING BITCH!

Do you imagine the world has a 24 hour memory like your mindless local population, or do you somehow think the world prefers US denial to REALITY, you filthy LYING whore?

But do not worry, Ms Obama, the world has a very keen eye on you and your faggot husband and records every move and statement you both make. Exposing brazen frauds, liars and murdering HYPOCRITES is very easy outside the USA, madame Babylon. Perhaps we should also mention the continuous support your husband gives to Muslim Jihadists and neo-Nazi, fascists that do America's dirty work on the ground, but there's no need, most of the civilised WORLD is acutely aware of the vile criminals that occupy the White House and the financial forces that control American politics. You and your plutocrat-serving family are walking in a quicksand swamp, my dear first lady of HYPOCRISY -- try and do better next time, would you!

First Lady to LYING HYPOCRITE condemns Boko Haram for abducting Nigerian schoolgirls

THE mass kidnapping of schoolgirls in Nigeria was an “unconscionable act” of terror against the education of girls, US First Lady Michelle Obama.

Speaking in her husband's place during President Barack Obama's weekly Saturday morning address, Michelle Obama said that this violence "was not an isolated incident ... it's a story we see every day as girls around the world risk their lives to pursue their ambitions." "Like millions of people across the globe," Michelle Obama said, "my husband and I are outraged and heartbroken over the kidnapping of more than 200 Nigerian girls from their school dormitory in the middle of the night.

"This unconscionable act was committed by a terrorist group determined to keep these girls from getting an education — grown men attempting to snuff out the aspirations of young girls." On April 14, 276 schoolgirls were abducted in the north-eastern Nigerian town of Chibok, and the kidnapping of eight more girls from Warabe on May 5. Three weeks later 223 girls are still missing.

The Islamist terror group Boko Haram claimed responsibility, and threatened to "sell" the girls into slavery.

"In these girls, Barack and I see our own daughters. We see their hopes, their dreams — and we can only imagine the anguish their parents are feeling right now," Michelle Obama said.

Obama praised the courage of the parents to send the girls to school despite the threats, and of the girls going to class knowing "full well the dangers they might encounter." The girls were "determined to one day build careers of their own and make their families and communities proud," she said.

Obama evoked the example of Malala Yousafzai, the Pakistani girl who "spoke out for girls' education in her community ... and as a result, she was shot in the head by a Taliban gunman while on a school bus with her classmates." The courage of Malala "and girls like her around the world should serve as a call to action" because "more than 65 million girls worldwide are not in school.

"Yet, we know that girls who are educated make higher wages, lead healthier lives, and have healthier families," thus boosting "their country's entire economy." US presidents issue a weekly radio address on a subject of their choosing. A video version is also posted on the White House website each Saturday.

Michelle Obama has appeared alongside her husband during the addresses, but this is the first time that she spoke alone.

Earlier this week, she expressed solidarity with the kidnap victims, tweeting a photograph of herself holding a placard bearing the slogan #BringBackOurGirls, the hashtag used as the rallying cry for a viral campaign calling for the schoolgirls' return.

Seven military officials along with a State Department expert arrived in Nigeria on Friday to help search for the girls. Three FBI personnel and four others were due to arrive Saturday.

President Barack Obama has described the kidnapping as "heartbreaking" and "outrageous."

[Be very aware that every time you or your murdering husband open your FILTHY LYING MOUTHS, someone will shove their honest boot down your vile, stinking, throats!]

A rare breed in a criminally corrupt world, Irish parliamentarian, Clare Daly

"The world is a dangerous place, not because of those who do evil, but because of those who look on and do nothing." - Albert Einstein
