Refuge

by shae via don Monday, May 26 2014, 1:51pm international / poetry / post > to whom or what do i turn for refuge, who would give me sanctuary that i may sleep with both eyes closed?

> it is a need to unburden, to unload the accrued merits and demerits of life to once again become pristine, clean devoid of good and evil?

you have always welcomed me regardless, u made that promise before my separation, but i remember culture has tried in vain to train me to carry it all without rest or trust yet i remember ur promise and hold fast to ur way for that extremely evident distinction they beat me as a child harangued me as a youth and tortured me as a man yet i have never let go nor would i attempt to survive without the strength and comfort you provide your promise is etched on the core of my being -try as they did they were not able to shake my conviction or create unsureness and doubt so i return to you constantly -- my source -the Love of my heart the light of my mind the movement in my limbs but i tire i am weary u offer me an extended hand and reassuring smile a safe haven for the night a sanctuary for my soul i release my identity from its mooring the heaviest burden of all, the false notion that i am individual, separate special, you know i am nothing without you http://ozpoetry.hopto.org/poetry/poem-512.html

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-1152.html