

West Point Cold Shoulders Poof President Obama

Whether it was due to the hawkish nature of freshly brainwashed cadets or the effeminate girl wars Obama wages with Drones -- contrast ancient REAL warriors and hand-to-hand fighting from Sparta to the Industrial age -- I do not know for sure, but Obama is dog shit today.

Bilderberg the CFR and the Trilateral cabals are in a panic over their failed President, there is even 'talk' that he may be eliminated before the end of his term, such is the hysteria he has generated among the dissociated ruling elite. But Obama went in eyes wide open, he is acutely aware that he is totally expendable and that he may be worth more dead than alive in the current situation -- America is rapidly losing its grip on the world, shock tactics are required once again!

What has happened to the criminal president that recently boasted to the world that "killing is his strong suit?" Perhaps he was over-compensating, who knows, but what we do know is Obama is a bisexual, effeminate puppet of the global elite and that he clearly failed to deliver what was expected of him; woe, woe, is Obama!

Do the American people really need to hear that they are exceptional from a loser? Surely the entire world knows how exceptional Americans are at killing children; 500,000 dead Iraqi children PRIOR to the illegal invasion was "worth it," according to former Sec. of State Albright. Americans are so exceptionally stupid their officials take responsibility of extra-judicial murders and assassinations, recent Sec. of State Clinton, in reference to Gaddafi, laughed as she foolishly stated on national TV, "we came, we saw, he died!" How's them apples? Yes indeed, the world is aware how exceptional America is, and is also acutely aware of how it is losing its grip -- the danger of proxy wars is that various proxy fighting groups are really fighting in their own interests, you 'exceptionally' dumb, doodle dandy fucks !

Obama's remote control poof wars are lost before they are waged for obvious reasons; take Libya for instance, where Obama bragged a 'win' without putting "American boots on the ground" -- a 'win' ay? Libya, once the most integrated and prosperous nation in North Africa is now a fragmented economic and tribal mess, industry and commerce are at a standstill as dozens of armed tribal and terrorist groups vie for supremacy. Syria, which quickly followed suit, has leaned well from the Libyan example and has already descended into chaos -- Iraq and Afghanistan were lost from the start but it is only now that it becomes evident to the propaganda saturated American masses, especially to the lemming cadets of West Point.

The first modern proxy coward's war America waged in the Balkans, using NATO and Muslim KLA terrorist fighters, promises to unravel in the very near future -- Serbia is easily able to force allies Russia and China to intervene by various soft and hard means, do not doubt it comrades, we now have the means -- courtesy of U.S. incompetence -- and be assured we will use them on your capitals if necessary! But surely you would prefer to voluntarily enforce international law relating to SOVEREIGN States and force the West to return the stolen province of Kosovo, easier than dealing with fallout, comrades -- you underestimate and ignore Serbs at your own risk!

So where does Obama stand today? Between a rock and a hard place as the adage goes; he is reviled by his former support base, which he sold out, and is despised by the political ultra-right; the only group he obediently serves, which is loath to openly admit they install all western leaders/PUPPETS into office are extremely disappointed with him not delivering on his allotted tasks. They are now (Bilderberg confab), as I write, debating what to do with him and anything is possible with elitist sociopaths that have no regard for human life.

A variation on a speech goes thus; 'I believe with every twitch of my sphincter that I am gay, the wars I wage are girl's wars by remote control; I loath placing incompetent American troops on the ground where they face danger and death, I would much rather suck their cocks instead!' -- Barack Obama
