

The Achilles Heel of a Superpower

It is true that the greatest empires of the past have always fallen prey to destructive forces from within before outside forces overwhelmed them -- that historical reality is also true of today's American 'PNAC, perpetual war' Empire.

We must look to the crucial event in the historical record that turned a superpower into an interventionist militaristic criminal empire -- all empires breach moral codes and existing laws by criminal nature -- and so it becomes evident that the event or confluence of events that launched the American Empire today reek of crime, intrigue and mass murder. My question to YOU, dear reader, prior to revealing which exceedingly transparent and bungled event launched the criminal American empire is simply, are you aware of it?

Every conspiracist in government today and yesterday has used and uses it to justify the nation's ever increasing crimes against humanity and justification for the unprecedented loss of personal freedoms and liberties.

Of course the answer is obvious, the WORLD'S most bungled conspiracy that launched the U.S. empire was 9/11. The Pentagon missile strike, the obvious demolition of Building 7 and the presence of military grade nano-thermite, exposes the government fairy tale of events, notwithstanding the VOLUMES of recorded evidence from expert physicists, structural engineers, architects, firefighters and other experts in related fields, such as demolitions and explosive experts. After reviewing the evidence, which is freely available in the public domain -- THERE IS ABSOLUTELY NO DOUBT THAT 9/11 WAS AN INSIDE JOB perpetrated by a small group of criminal conspirators declaring war on the FREE WORLD.

The following video clearly delivers the SOLUTION to the current problem:

Sun Tzu was essentially a strategist he ignored an essential element of war, the weapon! For example, a small vial of LSD is able to paralyse an entire city; a tripping population creates more chaos and disruption than any explosive or primitive weapon. It is amazing that it has not already been deployed; chemical detectors are inadequate as they cannot detect all chemical substances and substances can be introduced at any point in the system.

But substances are not my personal choice, I favour the 'keyboard' as it is able to take control of almost every modern technology that exists. But its real power lies in its ability to wage war on the most critical front -- where the battle for the mind is waged; it is the most silent but most effective warfare known, one in which America is very weak but the masses are very strong. Which brutal superpower could hope to prevail against the sophistication of a well designed keyboard.
