international / poetry / post

i want to write a poem to rhapsodise everything about u ur perfections and imperfections all of which make u unique the one for me

but u have become so close i am unable to separate u from me

i'm not sure whether i am lost in you or you in me but any distance between us has vanished a buoyant energy remains i dread that time that one of us departs this earth and leaves the survivor without half their being but that is something to face in the distant future i hope that is why i never take you for granted

i soak in everything about u as tho i am to face the executioner
tomorrow

yes, it's futile
i cannot divide what has become one i am unable to articulate or externalise
what is now the essence of my being

i am content to have u snuggly
in my arms

tonight
