I was recently hit with a brick, metaphorically speaking, and realised something obvious -- today the obvious is secret. The brick revelation was simply, 'where there is no WILL there is no way/action! WILL must precede all action no matter how insignificant. WILL is the prime mover, action ALWAYS follows, it is secondary to WILL. Populations today are devoid of WILL, why so?

Active Agent, Edward Snowden

The above observations explain much in all historical contexts, for example, people today -- the current period is most relevant -- seem incapable of making the slightest movement to restore justice to their respective societies, there is no need to repeat that most modern societies have been hijacked by a corrupt minority criminal class, the BIG OPEN secret is that most people are aware of that FACT but are incapable of remedial action. They allow an unrepresentative minority criminal class to literally 'lord' over them, they are clearly incapable of making a simple decision and removing tiny unrepresentative, PARASITIC minorities from locations of power, an extra-ordinary situation one would think, but reality dictates it is not so extra-ordinary after all!

Minority elites rule by mass persuasion, LIES, propaganda and misinformation, the objective of which is to instill FEAR and create an internally governed population; which the Romans achieved in the third/fourth century AD -- the Roman Empire did not fall/fail, as is often presented, it simply transformed and became the 'Holy' Roman Empire which continued to rule the western world with an iron fist for the next fifteen hundred years! The Romans were the first 'empire' to wake to the fact that a (costly) military empire was unsustainable therefore untenable and that rule by the 'policeman within,' was by far the optimum means to manage large populations, I wrote about this method -- learned from occupied Jewish territories -- some years back. Whole societies could be marshalled, organised and ruled via a 'book of rules' threatening perdition and eternal agony if certain behaviours were not followed. That reality is demonstrated daily in every large society that exists -- in this regard the brainwashed, frightened GLOBAL masses are ONE!

A recent example of reinforcing this trend is the case of self-confessed agent of the government and various spy agencies, Ed Snowden. He has done a fine job of convincing the public -- notice the assistance the privately owned mass media have given him and useful idiot, Greenwald, who would do anything but admit he has been duped -- that the NSA is an entity to be feared as it "knows what you/we are thinking;" the implication being, 'be afraid be very afraid,' in order to make YOU more pliant and easier to control.

Fear remains the most effective means of control, and which society in the western world is the most frightened? AMERICA! Which is demonstrated by a population that allows itself to be genitally groped -- there is no greater indication of SUBSERVIENCE than allowing such a hyper-personal intrusion by government perverts/strangers. It also highlights the fact that the free world must look elsewhere for reform solutions, the USA is truly LOST to perverse minority rule!

But to return to a point, active agent Snowden has assisted in the widespread indoctrination of millions; what is implied -- that agencies know everything we do -- be VERY AWARE that recording all digital data does not amount to knowing who you are or determining your location; the NSA, which is touted as having a GLOBAL reach, is incapable of locating missing airliner MH370!

Of course a few minor precautions must be observed to maintain anonymity. Simply, steer clear of all social media for one and always use aliases, never use an identity that can be traced back to you, like supplying Google with your cell phone # (morons).

OK, now back to the original point of "nose-ringed" societies and why they are INCAPABLE of reform even to the point of pursuing death rather than acting responsibly and independently.

So, Mr Chomsky and Mr Hedges you are running in circles and serving the interests of the powers by demonstrating how powerless the masses truly are and I admit I have consciously done the same in this paper, but to illustrate a point.

You should have known it's a lost cause, no-one is able to imbue anyone else with WILL; you can lead a horse to water and fuck it in the arse but you will never be able to give it the WILL to DO or SURVIVE; some things must arise from within.

Adepts say that bees locate honey themselves, who offers the nectar of liberation today?
