

Clueless on the 4th

by sam Friday, Jul 4 2014, 9:53am

international / prose / post

It's the 4th of July, a meaningful date on the American Calendar -- it marks/celebrates hard won American Freedom from oppression, but O, how far from that is America today?

A population that submits to genital groping by strangers in government uniforms under the excuse that this humiliating subjection is necessary to keep the population safe, neither understands nor deserves freedom; a population that accepts without willful resistance, a law that allows nefarious governments run by singularly driven commercial interests (fascism) to indefinitely detain (imprison forever) anyone they wish without charge on suspicion, without recourse to a public trial, has no idea what democracy is and deserves to be enslaved and abused in the demeaning manner that is occurring today -- welcome to good ol' police State, USA!

This critique is not a challenge to the nefarious forces that have hijacked American democracy and destroyed American FREEDOM -- that criminal class has been with us since the dawn of civilisation - - it is an accusative indictment of the ignorant, spineless, cringing cowards that today constitute/comprise the American population -- are you people for real? You wear your cowardice openly, as the Nazi enslaved Jews wore their arm bands before they were exterminated, and if you cannot appreciate the parallel you deserve your fate!

Allow a foreigner that actually lives in a real democracy to inform the media lobotomised American population that you have lost it (everything) completely. Democracy is simply majority rule directly or by representation; that means that government must express the will of the people, as opposed to the will and interests of Wall St! Democracy does not allow for minority elite rule of any type; in real democracies the people are Constitutionally charged with the legal responsibility to safeguard and restore democratic government if it is compromised in any way and is found not to be representative of the majority or is working to the contrary interests of the nation/people.

Happy 4th of July, Amerikan dunces and cowards -- what day is it?

Wounded Knee

Uncle Ho - time is on our side, you will never succeed!

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-1210.html>