

Serpentine

by reed Thursday, Oct 2 2014, 1:16pm international / poetry / post every dawn is new clichés and uniformity are anathema to nature's dance every celestial light formation placid sea and raging torrent are unique not one grain of sand on Bondi beach is the same as another

the entire universe sends an unambiguous message to humanity but few receive it conservatism is anathema to change and intolerant of free expression every blade of grass, fluttering leaf snowflake and rain drop spell defeat for the fools that would control humanity mesmerised populations do not remain fascinated forever, slavery creates the will to freedom, need i raise a banner?

in vain do fools contrive to contain humanity, every artist, free spirit and newborn babe defy the visionless, soulless ideology of conservatism take a look and see then reject the chains of conformity, embrace the amazing harmony that drives the process of renewal every pulse of creation is new every instant existence sheds its skin i need not lift a finger to vanquish conservatism, religious, political or otherwise the infinite power of creation requires no assistance

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-1296.html>