Rather than scream at the easily led, nose-ringed 'alternative media' I would simply state what most informed analysts, commentators and journalists already know i.e. that IS/ISIL/ISIS is an American creation supported by vassals Saudi, Qatar, Jordan, Turkey, and Israel; any media attention given to this blatant US owned proxy fighting group -- first deployed in Libya to assassinate Gaddafi and steal the nation's wealth -- SERVES THE INTERESTS of WASHINGTON and the CRIMINAL ELITE (CFR, Bilderberg, Trilaterals etc.) that control all policy in the USA and other western 'democratic' nations.

The intent BY DESIGN at this stage is to utilise this managed, extremist group to gain control of Syria and divide Iraq into three sectarian regions, which Washington imagines would be easier to control than the current mess in Iraq which America created at a HUGE cost in INNOCENT LIVES!

The CFR directed corporate media, right on queue, is currently saturating the air waves and wires with stories of terror and horror that IS commits when it occupies regions, the effect, western support for the 'war' and the mass exodus of populations from ISIS occupied regions, which of course serves Washington's interests of dispersing, occupying then dividing; are 'alternative' media people able to add 2+2? This stuff is well known and documented!?

Surely the most effective way the alternative media could handle this contrived situation -- recall Washington's arm-chair response at the critical stage when IS made huge inroads into other nations -- is to black ban all media attention given to IS, as this proxy fighting group serves only the criminal interests that created it. It is irrelevant how often the mass media runs stories on this extremist group, the only attention that should be given to this group are stories relating to its creation, which nations continue to support this group directly or indirectly and to what end -- falling for the bait by covering stories on the 'war on IS' is a suckers game, which would clearly support the intentions and designs of the criminal elite that created IS for very specific purposes.

Now, I do not wish to call a moron a moron but listen up morons, posting or publishing stories on the manufactured war on ISIS/ISIL/IS simply serves the interests of the criminal mass murdering global elite that TEMPORARILY has sway over the mass media and western governments. Many well reputed alternative outlets and commentators seem to have fallen for the ruse and are actually covering stories on the 'war,' à la CFR style!

We have a duty to publish the real news behind the fabricated news (propaganda) NOT to follow CFR directions blindly like a bunch of moron Murdoch 'journos.' The REAL story behind the current ISIS crap that issues from the mass media and alternative media is how and who created this group and who continues to support it. If we never veer from this approach at least the public has a chance to learn something and perhaps become aware of the machinations of their criminal governments, which clearly have nothing but contempt for their local citizenry/populations.

I would also pay very close attention to any so-called alternative journos that clearly follow the prescribed media discourse or attempt to shift focus away from the reality onto the prescribed fantasy and cover stories on the 'war' rather than EXPOSE the FAKERY behind and associated with it!

Have we got it now, dreamboats?
