

Un-titled

by wae Saturday, Nov 1 2014, 12:28am international / poetry / post i tremble in your presence mute not from fear but in awe as no words are adequately able to describe your splendour, immeasurable power and shimmering beauty/bliss how could i hope to raise my head before you, such is the overwhelming ecstasy you bestow on those that know you, i am speechless and humbled to my bones?

yet we communicate perfectly - words and thoughts only impede the kinetic flow of your saturating being/presence to whom should i offer obeisance?

i have never bent my knee to any man as no man is worthy of the respect he craves yet before you i am a lost child that clings desperately to its mother's ankles for fear of losing her protection and safety, i am home again and surrender willingly to your ineffable peace and bliss you are whole, devoid of empty, meaningless space;

in your fulness is unlimited knowledge which you willing share to the capacity of the receiver and as those who know, know no-thing, you fill their cup to overflowing

it was not enough that i remembered you i craved complete immersion in your being so i pursued you like a man possessed until we became lovers locked in inseparable embrace what feeble prize could this world offer to draw me back into its discordant hell - there are no substitutes for your Love, power and Perfection?

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-1330.html>