

Bring on the Nukes, House passes Legislation for WAR with Russia!

by gus Saturday, Dec 6 2014, 10:09am

international / prose / post

War with Russia is imminent and it couldn't be a better outcome as it may result in the obliteration of Western Europe and the USA but some time after the theatre of that war is played out in the Middle East. And before you think I'm nuts war was/is INEVITABLE if you are able to see the nose on your face.

The US corporate empire is in rapid decline with moves by powerful and emerging nations to dump the dollar and establish new co-operative relations for trade and mutual benefit -- a contrast to US rapacious exploitation and theft. The corporate ruling structure that is the USA is currently choking on its own over-printed, WORTHLESS paper money which would asphyxiate it if a major highly destructive war did not occur -- which the sociopaths in the USA and Western Europe imagine would afford a huge opportunity for massive re-development and exploitation, the life blood of parasitic, vampire corporations.

Western mega-bankers, now smothering in worthless paper, and facing a halt on expansionism have no way out as THEY imagine, they are faced with total ruin or the option of a 'controlled' nuclear war and the predictable choice has been made, WAR!

Nevertheless, the war with Russia will largely be played out in the Middle East as neither nation desires to be irradiated, which makes one wonder about Putin really divorcing himself from western ruling elites; war would conveniently put an end to the troublesome thorn in the US side, which is Israel, an untenable nation as it now stands, notwithstanding that US think-tanks consider Israel to have long passed its use-by date. It is also hoped that Iran will be provoked into retaliation and so the two most 'inconvenient,' 'troublesome' nations in the Middle East are effectively eliminated.

But not all contingencies have been properly considered as a third force of elite hackers that have already penetrated encrypted highly sensitive communications and 'defensive' systems in both nations would be able to turn the tide against whomsoever they choose -- probably the loathed, criminal USA, but that is conjecture -- by launching inappropriate devastating weapons that neither superpower would intentionally deploy but would be forced to accept responsibility for.

You may wonder how it is that we are privy to knowledge of the above scenario, well I am able to divulge that enough communication systems and encryption codes are now 'owned' by elite 'Uber' hackers and I can assure you that the information supplied is part of the planned scenario but everyone may be in for a big surprise. What has stopped hackers initiating conflict to date is that none have an appetite for annihilation, however, if superpowers are insane/stupid enough to engage in what they imagine would be a controlled nuclear conflict then all stops would be pulled and direction/outcomes would abruptly be altered.

We cannot prevent the deaths of millions that the superpowers would be responsible for, however, during what is planned to be a 'controlled' nuclear conflict, hackers would ensure that known elites would be targeted, as it is they that are responsible for ALL the mayhem and destruction since WWI to today's horrific mass murdering wars of resource theft. These minority psychopathic groups cannot be permitted to survive. However, the hacker super-elite has no desire to begin any such conflict but they surely would intervene to ensure certain outcomes if superpowers engaged in a nuclear conflict.

China would also become involved to support Russia but late, western Europe would then be drawn into the conflict -- now consider who is really nuts! Any war between superpowers allows for total destruction due to digital dependence and the digital is 'owned' by the most skilled.

Now see if you are able to separate the wheat from the chaff or the fanciful from the factual in this piece.

What was it moron puppet president Bush once said, "bring it on!"

Meanwhile the global masses that should be in control of their governments tremble and quake. Remember there is a price to everything and the price for social inaction today unfortunately is death.

<http://tinyurl.com/lqa2r5b>

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-1377.html>