Read carefully the mass media report below and see if you are able to determine the reality behind this subliminal form of propaganda.

Abbott, duplicitous lying scumbag

Notice first who published the poll, News Corp, that is Murdoch, who has both major parties in his pocket. Indeed, Abbott is Murdoch's boy, the pre-election wish list published by Getup PRIOR to Abbott stealing office with intentional calculated, GROSS LIES -- criminal fraud in other words -- offers irrefutable proof. Abbott's treacherous actions against the people in attempting to deliver are ample proof that this traitorous servant of minority mega-wealthy elites is poison for the people and the nation, as all his efforts to fulfil promises in exchange for support clearly indicate; however, he is no USE to Murdoch if he is unable to deliver, which is fast becoming apparent. And so Murdoch is playing the two horse, one stable, race game with the population. An honest, fair poll would include a third representative force and the option to abandon the two party merry-go-round, but not a hint on that option, one which the nation craves. In other words, the parameters of the poll have been intentionally engineered/constrained in order to preserve the status quo and Murdoch's power base regardless of which major puppet party is elected.

A recent post clearly exposed the puppet show that is the two major party circus serving the SAME INTERESTS, the minority big end of town, not the DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL MAJORITY.

It is clear that Australians have been abandoned by both major parties and need to return to traditional values of an even playing field and fair go for ALL not just the mega-wealthy criminal class that imagine that Aussies are easily tricked, stupid and manageable.

Murdoch is a geriatric power broker and his methods are passe', Australians have learned much in recent times, the hard way, and are much more aware than Murdoch gives them credit for; his simplistic methods are obvious to the trained eye and easily recognisable by others once they are made aware of the deceptive game minority ruling elites play.

I need not elaborate further as I do not share Murdoch's view that Aussies are easily duped morons like their American cousins.

The title is ample warning and the above explanation, including the embedded links should serve to assist Australians in breaking their psychological chains of slavery to corporate interests that take them for granted and consider them expendable and dumb.

The answer is NEVER to vote for the two major political (owned) parties but to elect people of integrity that clearly represent and personify Oz values of mutual cooperation, mateship and a fair go for all. The more REAL independents in Canberra the better, as it is they that have foiled Abbott's duplicitous, criminal treachery.

There is no need for me to emphasise to Australians that our traditional values are the fairest and best in the world. They are what makes this country unique and the most desirable location in the world today.

Murdoch media story follows:

New poll has more bad news for Abbott

After admitting to a "ragged" week for his government, Tony Abbott won't be happy with a new poll, which puts the coalition further behind Labor than when it lost the Victorian state election.

News Corp Australia reports the Galaxy poll is all bad news for the prime minister, with primary support for the government plunging to 38 per cent, while support for Labor has risen to 41 per cent.

On a two-party preferred basis, the government is running 10 points behind Labor, 55 to 45 per cent.

"Given that the coalition lost government in Victoria after just one term in office, this suggests that a similar fate could await the Abbott government unless voters see a notable improvement in their performance," Galaxy pollster David Briggs said.

Mr Abbott will be hoping an overhaul of his paid parental leave scheme, which cuts out the most wealthy mothers and expands childcare options, will help his numbers in the weeks ahead.
