

Barely Rates a Mention

by lex Thursday, Jan 29 2015, 7:09am

international / prose / post

You may have noticed that the 'news' is the same today as it was yesterday and tomorrow promises to be as predictable -- this has been occurring for the past decade, except of course for the minor distractions and mindless titillations there is no real news, it's all propaganda and gross misinformation but most people wouldn't have noticed, they have been slowly accustomed to the flow of unadulterated bullshit that issues from a handful of corporate media outlets.

And what is the news that hasn't changed in decades? Permanent war, criminal minorities hijacking every democracy in the western world and installing their puppets into high office to serve them not the majority that foolishly now accept the grossest lies from politicians that renege on all their promises and contemptuously flout the law and wishes of the people.

Why should elite criminals be worried after 10 years of OVERT and flagrant criminal activity, which includes human holocausts -- and not one guilty person has seen jail time let alone charges!

The public is a media-captured resource managed by terror and debt slavery, too easy; while the criminals rake it in as never before. And when the money runs out they simply print more, though it disappears into the same mega-wealthy pockets while average people eat shit and learn to like it -- the price of cowardice and ignorance in today's world is an enslaved, shit-eating population that deserves everything it gets.

So really, why bother covering the same thematic news CRAP, it's just the same ol' ongoing criminal story that the masses have been trained to accept without protestation or question.

These same unrepresentative criminal minorities are responsible for the global economic collapse of 2008 and every war that has raged since the false flag op, 9/11, now an exposed inside job designed to allow the USA and allies to engage in perpetual war and theft on a global scale.

The rest is mere salad dressing, the news is designed, packaged and released according to CFR dictates and proven formulas.

Is it good news week? You be the judge

🔊 It's Good News Week -- Hedgehoppers Anonymous