

Oz Dunce as Leader But he Obeys the Globalist Neo-conservative Agenda

by reg Sunday, Mar 1 2015, 12:05am

international / prose / post

I'm not going to waste time describing lying, disingenuous, duplicitous, NPD suffering, Corporate lackey Tony Abbott -- the entire Australian nation now has his measure; however, the spineless tragi-comedy his party is performing in their feeble attempt to accomplish a very simple task -- removing thoroughly incompetent Abbott -- indicates that his entire front bench must go with him or, alternatively, that Abbott is brought before the courts for the criminal offence of FRAUD.

Corporate lackey Abbott

Neither option seems feasible at the moment and so the nation must suffer Abbott until his party is FORCED to confront the inevitable.

The people would clearly remember how Abbott destroyed former lying PM Julia Gillard while he was leader of the opposition; a job well done but fighting is all Abbott knows, governing is another story and the WORLD is now aware that Abbott is a dunce leader with no idea how to govern a DEMOCRATIC nation, what's more, his presence is now toxic for the entire conservative movement in Oz as two State election slaughters CLEARLY indicate.

An old Indian tale tells the story of a butterfly that despised a bumble bee so much that its obsession eventually transformed it into a bumble bee -- Indian tales usually have a social significance.

In the above regard it is supremely amusing to note that when Gillard became universally despised by the people and as a consequence was removed (far too late) by her spineless party, she constantly took refuge/referred to the excuse of, "getting the job done," which translates as ignoring the will and wishes of the people, in a feeble attempt to retain power. And what are the INSULAR, ARROGANT conservatives doing even as I write, taking refuge in exactly the same disconnected, suicidal LIE?

Abbott refers continually to the people and their desire for stable government, indeed he expresses a universal democratic truth but he fails, as Gillard did, to hearken to the wishes of the PEOPLE, which is that he, like Gillard, has LOST the confidence of the NATION and therefore must go!

Abbott, like the 'butterfly,' pursues the known failed excuses and logic of Gillard! How thoroughly disconnected can a party get not to learn from immediate history in which they were a major player?

The message to the Libs is plain, the AUSTRALIAN people will not tolerate being duped, taken for granted and treated with contempt by Abbott or any other leader, a REALITY that most conservative politicians refuse to acknowledge today -- much to their great cost I would add.

Meanwhile, the opposition party couldn't be happier, the longer disconnected, self-obsessed, insular, arrogant Abbott leads his party, the less they need to work at re-election. So one man's food is the people's poison! For the people it is all to no avail as BOTH major parties are owned by the same corporate and elite globalist powers that have taken ownership/control of every western democracy on the planet -- including Russia until its leader finally woke to the fact that there is no room for two superpowers in the American struggle for hegemony.

Nevertheless, a clear solution is available to the people of nations that have not installed computerised voting systems, which can EASILY be tampered with by corrupt sysadmins. The solution for the PEOPLE is extremely clear, get off the circular two party merry-go-round and abandon both major owned parties in favour of REPRESENTATIVE INDEPENDENT GOVERNMENT, not minority serving puppets like Abbott and other western 'leaders' - that option if taken would be REAL democracy at work. Either that or suffer the same austere ENSLAVING globalist policies with a change of face.

Australia is not yet completely lost as the US, Canada, UK, NZ and western Europe are, but time is running out as the mass murdering evil elite learn and act to shore up their rule as the shadow government of the entire western world.

I would conclude with a brief note to the elite -- we told you that DUNCE Abbott would blow the game wide open -- choke on it, Rupert and ilk, if you lose strategic Oz you lose the game. If pathological Abbott refuses to step down for the good of his party we all know what comes next, a tragic 'accident' or death from (elite ordered) 'misadventure,' perhaps a heart attack for a man that pushes his body on a daily basis. And if the elite is in any doubt that their 'game' is unravelling, be assured, the 'underground' has YOUR measure -- fancy choosing a KNOWN INEPT clown like Abbott as leader, we sincerely hope he remains in power!

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-1492.html>