

Pan Surveillance and its Consequences

by nano Monday, Mar 9 2015, 10:02am

international / prose / post

Have you ever wondered what effect pan-surveillance has had on intelligent social fighters for democracy, freedom and justice? If you are part of the herd the immediate reaction would be to fear ACTIVE AGENT Snowden's revelations - a planned strategy -- increasing police powers and the militarisation of society, cringe, cower and cringe some more and be happy cowering and contracting in fear, you mass media lobotomised morons!

However, independent, truly exceptional thinkers maintain their grasp on REALITY, not the 24 hour 'news/propaganda' cycle. Pan-surveillance and increased social repression have created an explosion in underground activity and a huge expansion in 'dark web' activity where anonymity reigns supreme, not 'selfies,' narcissism and their result, dejection and alienation.

As an early member of the 'underground,' 25 years, which has existed in one form or another since the dawn of civilised societies, I can confidently testify to the spawning of a new era of free social activity - one which is undetected by surface NSA spying or any other form of infiltration - agents stick out like dog's balls as they do not have the morals, courage, ethic or 'speak' to be able to successfully penetrate the inner circles -- and there are many - in the rapidly expanding underground.

The materialistic global elite in their manic push for global domination and monetary wealth, have blown it yet again, they are in fact their own worst enemy, as everything they do to maintain their now tenuous grip on power has ENORMOUS (unforeseen) consequences, which far outweigh any imagined benefits.

You may wonder why I have chosen this moment to speak, well, you're not the only one - LOL!

Okay, a little extra.

The deep underground is characterised by its complete lack of un-exceptional individuals, everyone that managers to connect to like-minded highly skilled and talented people does so to the level of their personal ability, personally I have no idea how many levels there are as I am also restricted by my personal limitations, so you see the environment is self-filtering/managing; but what maintains the integrity of the underground on every layer is the cardinal rule of ANONYMITY - a simple yet highly effective discipline.

Our people also work in leading fields on the surface and share information with their underground peers. That process enables a greater creative pool as the underground is a borderless global phenomenon, the result is superior knowledge (and with that comes superior ability) which far surpasses that of any one state/nation, group or other surface organisation.

That's all for the moment; however, people should be aware of the metaphor, the tectonic underground forces of the earth far exceed in power and effect anything on the surface and so it is with the underground real elite.

Have a nice monitored day!

---

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-1501.html>