

Tony Abbott Hasn't Changed One Iota

Abbott's latest appalling gaffe - a "life-style choice" -- regarding the impoverished indigenous population, is typical of his combative, Darwinian mindset, nothing new, and that is the point, he views the vulnerable and weak with contempt, his heartless attack on young students and the aged/vulnerable in our community is known, those actions speak the truth about Abbott and his Libs; all Abbott has done recently, to lift the opinion polls, is put on a mask, his more contentious policies, like the medicare co-payment/tax, have simply been put on the backburner not abandoned. Abbott is now attempting to deceive the public with a disposable persona fixed to his face with MORE LIES and more duplicity - it's all bullshit, just more of his public fakery, deception and duplicitous nature, this 'leopard' will NEVER change his spots, as is obvious now to all.

Tony Abbott and Mike Baird, full of shit!

Anti-democratic, minority serving, corporate friendly conservative parties want to privatise all public assets, but what then? The private sector would then rule a debt-enslaved population and if YOU end up on the streets, 'it's a life-style choice,' remember!

Selling vital energy infrastructure like electricity to the corporate sector is par for the conservative course, yet the tragic irony is that the public have built and own (all) the nation's wealth; yes, it's the population that constitutionally owns the nation. However, corporate elites have long since woken to the fact and have an effective democracy-killing strategy/agenda that allows for massive corporate tax avoidance options, indeed, corporate enterprises have never had it so good -- all facilitated by corporate compliant puppet governments, of which Abbott's is the most coarse and obvious.

The Trans-Pacific Partnership (TPP) is the latest push for outright corporate rule, which agreement allows for corporations, not elected governments, to make decisions regarding trade and local 'enterprise.' Need I emphasise the extent to which the TPP is pure corporate fascism? Any commercial company that has the ability to overrule elected governments and take them to court if they do not comply with sustainable, environmentally friendly, non-polluting activities is a company that demands to be nationalised not given unfettered reign over entire nations. But Oz conservatives brazenly support these commercial interests and to hell with the democratic MAJORITY, the public!

Fortunately the Oz public is acutely aware of the fact, as two previous State elections indicate, but do not be deceived, the NSW Baird government is an ideological clone of the Abbott government and should be removed before it too reduces the population to hardship and economic slavery – the agreeable persona of Mike Baird counts for nothing as his corporate friendly POLICIES speak the truth about this man.

The government revenue problem is one easily remedied by a simple, traditional Oz value, those that benefit most from the nation should return most to the nation, not the reverse, which conservatives favour.

Need I also state that Australia is one of the world's wealthiest nations per capita, but how much wealth do YOU see or have? Little remains after mega-corporations rape, pillage and plunder the nation's resource wealth and take the profits, in trillions of dollars per annum, OFFSHORE to avoid their tax responsibilities. Oz is not broke or strapped economically, a huge lie, it is simply being plundered with the help of State and Federal conservative governments that now are forced to extract evermore revenue from the over-burdened public.

If you care anything for Oz society and traditional values you know what must be done in NSW, remove all minority serving, corporate friendly politicians from power and ensure they never get a 'look-in' again!
