

The time for Reform has passed - it is time for Replacement and Reconstruction

by zed Wednesday, May 6 2015, 4:17am

international / prose / post

The argument for social reform is no longer valid as western governments have strayed so far beyond redemption and correction people are now faced with removing the current corrupt and perverse status quo altogether.

Regardless of which political party people support, the result today is always the same, corporate owned politicians of whichever stripe now serve the interests that have hijacked the democratic process.

We are ALL familiar with the methods politicians utilise today, lie through your teeth, dupe the masses, then about-face and serve minority, unrepresentative, wealthy elite interests which currently have a strangle-hold on the western world. It becomes plain that politicians are the most vile and disgusting genus of human being and should NEVER be supported, rather they should be held to account or placed on trial for fraud, deceit and in many cases (TPP) treason.

No-one would ever entertain a friend that CONTINUALLY deceives, lies and cheats, so why support politicians and the thoroughly corrupt political systems that exist today?

However, polls continue to have some use where computerised voting does not exist. The people in those nations are able at voting time to completely withdraw support for dishonest professional politicians (UK elections tomorrow) and to install representative INDEPENDENTS as viable alternatives. Failing that, people should cease all physical and psychological support for the current corrupt model and act only to remove it, not by diametric opposition, but by unplugging its power source, YOU!

Simply withdraw your support or engage in -- if one is forced by circumstance to work - 'go slow' campaigns and worker litigation at the drop of a pin, tie up corporations with a flood of litigation and reduced production. Arrogant executives and bosses (slave masters) would soon learn their positions are not as secure as previously imagined.

Campaigns of subversion are simple, as corporations are fraught with legal vulnerabilities and all have soft underbellies, which become readily apparent if perception is focused on their structures and methods. It is imperative that cooperative dealings with elite criminals should cease and be replaced with legal subversive activity. It remains obvious fact that the most powerful social force in existence is the billions of people that currently slave for criminal elites, wake up!

This strategy is not fanciful as I am able to verify that one of Australia's largest financial institutions was brought down when it was realised from plain observation that it was juggling the books and engaging in strategies that opened the door to its demise. In addition, the chief executive was jailed for a number of years for fraud and other corporate crimes. I repeat this was one of the largest financial institutions in the country. Also, utilising the salivating dogs of the legal fraternity, which only have allegiance to themselves, also hits corporations hard. A 'friend' is personally responsible for relieving numerous corporations of millions of dollars in worker compensation claims for various people -- to date the figure stands at $25 million and going.

The above examples are the result of ONLY two people fighting for justice against the vile criminal system we ALL must fight and completely ERADICATE from the face of the earth. So don't tell me it can't be done or it's fanciful, as it has already been ACHIEVED!

The corporate mass media specialises in instilling defeatist thinking in the masses -- the truth is victory against the system is not difficult, it only requires commitment and creative, resistant thought.

To tell the truth it was a piece of piss but people do not believe the simple truth so I presented it as above. So wake up to yourselves and realise that nothing can stop the people. When YOU unplug from the poisonous mass media and the defeatist slave mentality it inculcates, you would be surprised how clear things become - too fucking easy!

Get a taste from one disgruntled shopper and one abused employee that were both treated with contempt by two of Australia's largest food retailers, Coles and Woolworths respectively - Coles has since been fined upwards of $20 million by the regulator and its former CEO would have difficulty obtaining a position in a tuckshop. Woolworths may soon face a class action by abused employees, which is likely to cost it millions of dollars in compensation but also tens of millions in sales and a trashed brand name. I am informed it couldn't have been easier to compromise both companies as corporate managerial structures suffer a massive absence of initiative and the scourge of top-down 'group think,' which opens many doors to opportunistic gain and subversion.

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-1596.html>