

FIFA the DISTRACTION - where's the hypocritical FBI on Unprosecuted BANKER and CORPORATE Fraud?

by stacey Thursday, Jun 4 2015, 1:15am

international / prose / post

Don't kid yourself the best analysts are sometimes fooled by the mass media's 'news' of distraction and propaganda, so it is little wonder the nose-ringed herd easily fall prey.

I need not labour the point. While America spouts "filthy" European corruption touching its virginal (implied) shores - Wall Street rogues, Bankers and Corporations responsible for the largest financial fraud (2008) IN HISTORY remain at large, even though everyone knows which institutions were responsible, so what about it, 'J. Edgar?' Don't hold your breath sheeple.

If you're looking for justice you'll never find it in any western nation, a self-evident REALITY today!

It may be advisable to first understand the origins and evolution of the police as a body created to protect the interests, property and wealth of the elites of the world - fact!

Secondly, beware of 'cherry picked,' fragmented or incomplete media coverage, which is par for the course today. Politicians love it as it easily enables them to serve their corporate masters while selecting a single issue to tout 'success' at the expense of plummeting living standards and eroded rights. Take for example the Australian PM who constantly says he "stopped the [refugee] boats", but rarely states the hundreds of millions in bribes and overall costs to the taxpayer to detain refugees offshore. If the local population was aware of the costs to them of this 'achievement' I'm reasonably sure they would opt to house refugees in Tasmania or some other appropriate inexpensive location for processing ONSHORE, while using the wasted millions for essential infrastructure, schools and services to improve their rapidly diminishing lot - and that is just one distractive issue. What I'm essentially saying is look behind all mainstream 'news' for the COMPLETE PICTURE, as doing so would soon reveal that corporate serving governments are inept, corrupt and thoroughly deceitful.

Never ever forget that today's mass media is owned and run by agenda driven corporate elites, like king maker-breaker Rupert Murdoch, to whom most western puppet leaders kowtow. And never fall for the 24 hour news cycle of DISTRACTION designed to constantly shift focus from the major issues like corporate instigated perpetual war, massive corporate tax evasion and financial fraud, pollution, climate change, pan-surveillance, the erosion of rights and liberties and plummeting living standards due to intentionally depressed wages and banker designed debt slavery. Enough said? Or perhaps I could have simply said, stay AWAKE! Your elite serving, traitorous governments and the self-serving mass media are NOT your friends.

<http://www.informationclearinghouse.info/article42037.htm>