

ISIL: If It's such a Big Threat then Eliminate it

by mitch Friday, Jun 5 2015, 2:04pm

international / prose / post

ISIL/ISIS/IS/Da'esh, is serving the purpose it was created for, to enable western governments to impose evermore new sweeping terrorist laws that restrict the freedoms of ALL CITIZENS.

ISIL was manufactured by US thinktanks to bring the 'threat' home to all western nations something that al-Qaeda could not do as it was localised and far removed from western nations, notwithstanding it had passed its use-by date; hence the feeble story of the alleged killing of its leader, Osama bin Laden, who had been dead for years - that is why hard proof of the killing was never forthcoming, the entire fabrication was/is media manufactured, note the 24 revisions of the 'official' government story, and story is exactly what it is. Any elementary school child would ask for proof, but not the American population, which falls for pathetic oblique shots of a man watching television/videos. The body of 'public enemy number 1,' which was allegedly buried at sea so it could never be independently examined, would have been brandished to the world in order to display US prowess, if the event was true. However, the opposite occurred, which was totally out of character with the cultural mindset of the USA. Compare the grotesque exhibitionism surrounding Saddam's trial and execution, which was entirely in keeping with the US sensibility.

So now the mass media, which pathologically ignores real issues affecting western populations, like climate change, debt slavery, corporate financial fraud and tax avoidance, plummeting average living standards, frozen wages, rising prices and impending global economic collapse, due to saturating the world with overprinted greenbacks, is obsessed with the 'threat' of jack-in-the-box ISIS, which 'magically' popped fully formed out of its box to wreak havoc on the western world, how convenient!

Puppet western politicians have been briefed; focus on the 'new' threat to exclusion of real issues and implement more draconian laws to contain the population -- the real enemy as the minority elite see it. And see how they (puppet politicians) run, Canada, the UK and Australia, almost in unison, have or are legislating new laws which seem more directed at free speech/expression and real journalists than anything else, but of course the nose-ringed, 24 hour memory wiped moronic masses fail to see anything that is not served up for them, and so ISIL remains the greatest threat to western civilisation since Attila the Hun - BUT IS IT?

I hate to state the obvious - for the aware few -- but with media distracted pea-brains, stating the obvious has become a necessity. Now consider the two world wars of the 20th century, millions of people were mobilised against the MILLIONS fighting for enemy States. Even so, those horrendous wars ended in a few years. Now consider the number of ISIS fighters, a few thousand brainless and gullible fanatics at best, now consider the weaponry and the billions of people populating the 'threatened' western world and the entire charade becomes the pathetic joke that it is. ISIL could be removed from the face of the earth almost overnight if it was truly the threat it is made out to be; so why hasn't that occurred? As stated in the intro, it serves a very useful purpose screwing billions of gutless morons that are unable to add 2+2.

I now leave you to lap up more DISTRACTION/propaganda from the elite's corporate mass media, quick, Kim Kardashian is flashing her ass again, for YOU!

---

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-1654.html>