

Golden Retriever Tony Abbott Runs with elite Bone - ISIL is coming to get YOU/Everyone!

by baz Friday, Jun 12 2015, 11:16am

international / prose / post

Soon after conservative treasurer Joe Hockey displayed his total disconnect with average Aussies, his elite trained boss, Tony 'woof' Abbott, has gone one better/worse, ISIL is coming to get everyone, "submit or die," completed his failed, fearmongering, mad hatter proclamation. But few fell for it and even fewer are listening to that duplicitous, lying errand boy for the corporate elite.

Dunce PM and corporate errand boy, Tony Abbott

The most astounding aspect of all this verbal gastric from Canberra is that the mass media has allowed Abbott to run with his bone with hardly a murmur -- statistics clearly indicate that terrorism is the least threat to Aussie citizens - that is fact, something Abbott is allergic to. So people, shake in your shoes and expect black attired terrorists to be knocking on your door accompanied by the mad hatter and Alice.

However, when a national leader becomes so divorced from reality and is allowed to remain in office -- when he clearly should be receiving treatment and then facing charges for electoral fraud and stealing office, then there really is cause for REAL concern.

Tax evading multi-nationals continue to rot the system while evermore constrictive laws are passed to 'keep us safe' from Alice. The absurdity of Abbott's statement places him in his own private world, where he's not required to confront the public about constantly targeting citizens to make up CORPORATE shortfalls in revenue. After treasurer Hockey delivered another load of codswallop in parliament, his team of conservative buffoons and 'out-of-its', gave him an American style standing ovation in parliament -- and some Aussie drongos continue to believe in democracy and representative government! The Labor opposition never ceases vocalising but says nothing meaningful, as they are also owned by the same interests that own 'woof, woof' Abbott and his conservative clowns.

But sadly it doesn't end there; demented Abbott virtually admitted, on air, to condoning the practice of paying/bribing people smugglers to return to their point of departure with their unfortunate human cargos NOT realising that bribery actually creates a HUGE INCENTIVE for people smugglers to get rich quick, the crew of the encountered boat allegedly received approximately $US5,000

EACH for turning their boat around. Now think of the availability of desperate refugees seeking to leave Asia and how simple the task to load any leaky boat with these desperate people and make for Australian waters in the knowledge that they may receive a relatively huge (in Asian terms) payment if they encounter Oz patrol vessels, if they manage to get through they still win with the money they extracted from desperate asylum seekers and refugees – that's called in business, a 'win-win' situation that few could resist !

The people smuggling industry has just received its biggest incentive in months and unrepresentative Abbott continues to be tolerated by the tax-crucified Aussie public. What is wrong with this picture, Australia?

[Editorial note for the global elite:

We informed you this Jesuit trained zealot would 'blow it' for you, he simply can't help himself. 'ISIS coming for everyone' -- ludicrous!]

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-1667.html>