

Sharrouf - Dead Man Walking

by denis Sunday, Jun 28 2015, 1:04am

international / prose / post

The Murdoch press confirmed a US drone strike killed Mohamed Elomar, who was identified by high resolution images after the drone strike, however, Khaled Sharrouf was not among those killed.

Regardless of whether or not Sharrouf was in the vehicle struck by a hellfire missile it's just a matter of time before he is killed, as he has nowhere to go or hide. Sharrouf is forced to remain within ISIL ranks and as is known those ranks leak information like a sieve. Khaled Sharrouf is therefore a dead man walking, unless of course he is able to break with ISIL -- highly unlikely, once in the only way out is in a box -- and remain in the Middle East, on the run, with an assumed identity.

If murdering psychopath and COWARD Sharrouf decides that 'martyrdom' is not for him, which seems the case, he may break with ISIL and go on the run, which would make him a target of the West and ISIL. In any case it's simply a matter of time Mr Sharrouf, so you may as well stay within the ranks and go down like the cowardly, murdering dog that you are.

Your propaganda value has been exhausted, in fact, you now represent a 'trophy' propaganda boost for western assassins and huge blood money payouts for their lackeys within ISIL. In other words you are now a liability and ISIL is likely to dispatch you themselves in order to prevent a propaganda disaster - how does it feel not being able to trust anyone, Mr Sharrouf? It is widely known that Arabs are the world's leading two-faced backstabbers - suck on it; pleasant dreams, dog!

[We are independent Oz hackers and we fight our own battles, we noticed you read the previous article from Iraq, it was a simple matter to locate your IP address, so be careful what you read and do on the net, moron.]