What, you ask? Bring down the house of cards that is the EU/NATO and the debt-enslaving, paper money printing, PRIVATELY OWNED global Reserve Banking Cartel headquartered in New York – That's what!

Yanis Varoufakis

Nobody saw it coming, least of all the arrogant, conservative, intransigent, 'troika' which imagined a representative from one of its financially slaughtered nations couldn't possibly resist/reject them and threaten the entire oppressive edifice built on bullshit, chicanery, fraud and DECEIT.

YF did what reason dictated; behind all the scattered commentary is the fact that the EU is now between a rock and a hard place, if they grant concessions then others would demand similar treatment if they attempt to cripple Greece when it is forced to default and return to the drachma (the elite plan is to annihilate Greece) then millions world-wide now suffering under the same AUSTERITY policies would revolt, hard or soft, whatever the cultural case may be.

YF has exposed AUSTERITY as a gambit designed by the elite to plunder nations/populations; the criminal forces against Greece and other smaller European nations print money from thin air and then use it to debt-enslave nations/populations in order to invest value in the worthless paper they print. Loans require servicing and if a nation is unable to service its debt then the people pay with their hard-earned savings and nations pay with national assets, economic imperialism in other words, something YF could not tolerate for his people or the rest of the democratic world – this man is an internationalist, if that required stating and the arrogant elites have only now just woken to the fact. Almost in unison, from Washington to Europe, the elite replied, when questioned on the referendum, that it was 'inconsequential, irrelevant, something to be ignored,' talk about dreamboats in a fool's paradise – please, keep ignoring it until the masses come for your heads!

It was Goldman Sachs that arranged, through book-cooking, for Greece to 'qualify' for enormous unpayable loans, clearly, with the view of appropriating everything of real value when the impossible debt could not be serviced.

So who or what carries the cost/burden of Austerity, national assets and the people whose productive work/real savings must be appropriated in order to invest value in worthless printed paper. What a con of monumental proportions, the entire edifice has been hanging on a thread from day one, in fact it's a wonder the world tolerated it as long as it did.

Now Greece must be made an example of to keep other nations in line but it will surely backfire as rogue Banks lending to other Banks in the same arterial system is not lending at all it is simply passing money from one filthy hand to the other - the Greek people hardly saw a cent of the loans as their current conditions testify.

Russia has recently stated that Greece would be able to join BRICS and borrow from its development bank, when its setup is completed. And BRICS represents powerhouse nations that produce real assets of value not worthless greenbacks and euros with which to bait unwary nations that have surrendered their sovereign right by either floating their currency to rogue Wall St speculators or have forfeited their currency to the euro.

I could go on but it's all been covered by other material on this site. So in conclusion, I would say to the 'troika' and Reserve Banking Cartel, give it your best shot cos you're fucked whichever way you go; your criminal methods and the thread they hang on are now on open display -- even banjo playing Americans are able to see!

Hit Greece as hard as you are able elites, because the harder you hit the weaker YOU become until you're all hanging from light poles!

The global population has just tasted REAL DEMOCRACY IN ACTION and it tastes like FREEDOM, EQUALITY and JUSTICE!
