

It's TIME for PEACE to enter and hopefully dominate the social discourse

by jane Wednesday, Jul 15 2015, 9:00am

international / prose / post

It seems that few have noticed how the elite's propaganda arm, largely directed by the CFR, has naturalised 'perpetual war.' The mass media has effectively made war, the lowest form of human interaction, acceptable. Parasitic and psychopathic bankers and corporations that profit from human misery and the destruction of entire (once stable) nations, couldn't be more pleased. Well, I will shout it from the rooftops, war is not only UNNECESSARY and contrived by evil elites, it threatens the stability and peace of all nations/peoples everywhere.

To effectively counter the constant stream of war propaganda/discourse that issues from the sewers of the mass media and is tragically followed by alternative media dimwit commentators and journalists, write, sing, paint, sculpt and make videos on all aspects of PEACE, bring sanity back into the social discourse and though it may not achieve discursive dominance, due to the concentrated hold the mass media has on the masses, it surely will make a difference.

Now recollect for some, or research it for others; the 60's generation made PEACE their one word slogan and succeeded in ending the illegal Indo-Chinese war. The word PEACE carries a huge impact on innate human nature - WE ALL CRAVE IT - so for peace's sake capitalise on it, writers and artists.

The evil powers are aware that peace is a very powerful message hence their mass media saturates content with war discourse, images and footage, which subtly and slowly takes hold on the cultural mind - enough exposure and people begin to believe it's natural, unavoidable and the state of necessary affairs when nothing could be further from the truth.

War is a monstrous evil on all humanity, not that it should require anyone reminding us. Do you know the second most used one word slogan of the 60's generation - LOVE? I have nothing more to say as the social reformations that occurred as a result were transforming, however, today those reforms have been reversed by evil, mass murdering plutocratic elites that should be locked up not allowed to pollute and distort our better nature.

As John Lennon said and sang before he was 'assassinated' - to give you an idea how much evil elites fear that word, "GIVE PEACE A CHANCE." And always resist the temptation to follow mass media discourse, regardless of disagreement, as content remains violence orientated.

The more the mass media saturates the airwaves with war the more alternative writers and artists should discourse on the futility of war and the necessity of PEACE.

You can't change things for the better by being part of the problem!

Peace.

[Please feel FREE to link and share this message.]

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-1729.html>