

Global Ruling Elite Comes out of Shadows

by darcy Monday, Jul 20 2015, 2:09am

international / prose / post

The Greek crisis has proven without doubt that mega-bankers connected to the global Reserve Banking Cartel with headquarters in New York, and voracious corporatists call the shots and could care less for democracy, freedom, social welfare or humane living conditions for the masses.

Mega-banks which print money from thin air and lend it out to ensnare unwary citizens and nations MUST translate that worthless digital/paper money into REAL assets of worth in order to invest value in their valueless trickery. As we know Greece's parliament unwisely accepted the draconian conditions of EU/NY bankers, which 'deal' included surrendering Greece's REAL national assets, which appears to have been the primary objective of bankers, as Greece's debt according to the IMF was unsustainable/unserviceable - and continues to be. EU bankers went in with eyes open and their unbridled avarice on overdrive.

The appropriation of everything of real worth in the tiny Mediterranean nation is complete, notwithstanding the extremely harsh/cruel conditions imposed on the population, which have in reality become modern day slaves in the truest sense -- the conditions of ancient slaves for the most part (forget Hollywood) were far better than what has been IMPOSED on the Greek population. Rulers of ancient empires were not fools and ensured their valuable slaves lived in tolerable conditions as their work/production was of extreme value to ancient empires - but not so today's ruling elite, which are clearly manically driven to pursue evermore wealth at any cost to their victims.

The entire world is witness to the extreme sociopathology of this minority banker/corporatist elite, which are also behind all the recent wars of resource appropriation over the past two decades, however, after Greece's fiasco I hope the widely publicised inhuman behaviour of this heartless elite serves to wake the GLOBAL debt-enslaved population to the absurdity of the situation in which they find themselves, i.e. accepting the absurdity of a tiny, self-serving, psychopathic elite imposing debt-chains on the global population based on nothing more substantial than thin air and SUBSCRIPTION - need I emphasise the point?

The plan to harness the global masses and everything of worth (everywhere) using debt-slavery was implemented in the 80's and incrementally developed to the garish extreme we witness today and judging by appearances it has succeeded, as Greece is the test case and its population appears to have accepted the totally unacceptable.

So my prognosis for the future is more of the same but at a more rapid pace, harsh austerity measures are actually designed to impoverish and then yield real assets to paper-money-printing con artists. The whole edifice of minority elite power hangs on a fantasy, which if accepted becomes reality.

Readers are encouraged to research history as they will not find any other instance whereby millions of potentially free people have been transformed into subservient slaves.

It's not a good look for people, as the trick employed by the brazen elite is 100% farcical.

Nevertheless, the OVERWHELMING MAJORITY is worthy of their lot - and I would not be so harsh as to describe them as invertebrate shit-eaters!

Everyone that subscribes to the ruse is indeed Greek today.

<http://www.informationclearinghouse.info/article42427.htm>

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-1737.html>