

Laying Time

international / poetry / post

arrive
in ur own time
lay down beside me
next to me
inside me
within me

spread ur mind
over me like
a blanket
until all that exists
is you

make it easy
for me
to embrace u
again

unlock all ur facets (too numerous to identify individually)
bring them all together,
bring them home
here with me

u left in a flash,
return in a glimmer
use light as ur doorway,
ride it like a fire

corporeality has never impeded u before;
traverse time,
breach the barriers
that confine
the mundane;
liberate everything
mapped/captured by the destroyer of all things

return impervious to

the buffeting undulations of temporal existence
appear as you are,
immortal
eternal
continuous
