

Until

by wisp Sunday, Aug 16 2015, 11:22am international / poetry / post i write until i tear open the page and plummet thru into a world without restrictions no longer confined by a screen or A4 paper the medium and message entwine around my brain which never sleeps or ceases to create i remember the brush strokes that swept across coarse paper

- hand made - with the ease of an autumn breeze no semantic force was required only a deft hand and the ceaseless flow of creation

today i tap a keyboard clickety clack whack a suitable encoder for the digital age but it pales against the turns of my wrist and sweeps of my hand on broad paper -- the past easily overcomes the present there is nothing spontaneous about typing, the means formulates the message so now i must force entry to the portal of dreams which once opened like a lover's thighs caressed by slow deft hands with bamboo pipe and camelhair brush each fine filament depositing ink ending in a fine fading fray the art of which was to judge the sweep, line, character and the amount of ink each brush could carry to the page

that was the art of writing now writing is the art so i am writing you!
you imagine i jest
but no, with every word i force you to decode i steal ur mind, come closer i must whisper a secret, i have learned to write with my cock and what marvels it produces in salacious minds but i refrain from description here as this is a technical piece perhaps another time when ur medium is more receptive -- a gentle stroke of paradise

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-1787.html>