

Rogue Superpower

by jude Wednesday, Oct 17 2012, 12:42pm

international / prose / post

As the WORLD faces the existence of a rogue, terrorist superpower in the form of Zionist banker, corporate controlled imperialist America and its pathetic lackey client state allies, whose leaders vie with each other to see which is more servile or expert in kowtowing to Washington, the growing cynical masses are confronted with an extremely pressing, critical choice; are they to continue passively accepting criminal leadership, increasing social divisions and more global destruction or are they ready to say enough is enough and alter the destructive direction their UNREPRESENTATIVE minority-ruled nations are taking? THESE ARE THE MAJOR CRITICAL ISSUES OF OUR TIME, not the scripted TRANSPARENT, claptrap presidential debates or created political gender war distractions that are fed to us via the privately owned (CFR) controlled mass media!

Indeed, expert analysts and commentators are making bets and asking these questions now -- how long before the charade collapses and which nation will be the first to establish a real democratic State in today's entirely rotten, corrupt and repressive political world?

I can only speak for myself when I say REAL change will not issue from the USA or its client states. The global revolution, if it comes, would likely begin in a tiny nation which would then act as a spark in the dry tinder of global disenfranchisement and social frustration. The genuine ANGER that seethes in the mass consciousness just below the surface of compliance, is palpable today!

I need not go into intellectual explanations when the reason is extremely clear and apprehensible by all? Only two generations ago in the Western world a nuclear family could survive quite comfortably on the single wage of one working parent! Furthermore, when the breadwinner reached retirement age he/she could then pass on the wealth/assets they had accumulated over the course of their working life to their heirs, children or to whomsoever they chose? Today, however, the above described simple family dream has become nightmare, an impossibility for average citizens. Today both parents are forced to work just to survive in a reasonably manner and at the end of their working lives the only inheritance on offer for the young is debt!

One need only be aware of the above hard reality to realise that the western world has gone BACKWARDS socially. Available wealth has never been greater yet today it is concentrated in fewer hands than ever before.

Huge wealth disparities create social imbalance and fertile ground for radical social revolution.

The imposition of severe social policies, the erosion of rights and liberties and all the surveillance technology in the world would not be able to stem or prevent the approaching tsunami of social discontent. The masses will erupt almost overnight like spontaneous combustion and re-assert their prerogatives and the rights of the MAJORITY -- and God help the criminal minorities that have wreaked havoc, mass murder and destruction on the WORLD for personal gain.

🔊 It's all over now baby blue - Them

