Almost immediately after Obama delivered his jaw-dropping HYPOCRITICAL address at the UN General Assembly, Obama delivered yet another one of his divorced from reality, classic hypocritical diatribes this time addressing the nation and the latest mass shooting of innocents. Feigning concern -- he has none -- as he himself admitted that 'killing' was his 'strong suite,' he took aim at the Constitution and the right to bear arms, which the founding fathers wisely included in the Constitution as they were aware of the forces from WITHIN that could threaten the liberties and freedoms of their new nation.

The implementation of a totalitarian American police state today is a measure designed to protect, not the people, but the nefarious criminal elites WITHIN to which the founding fathers indirectly referred. However, the arms which were meant to safeguard the nation/people and eradicate nefarious forces have instead been turned on the people by the people principally due to the shadow status of the real rulers of the USA and their privately owned mass media propaganda apparatus. Every modern president has served and continues to serve criminal elite forces today, as it is impossible to become president without support from self-serving CFR, Trilateral, Bankster etc., criminal elites.

Shootings have 'become routine' said Uncle Tom Obama, police shooting of innocents have also become routine as have the ILLEGAL military interventions by the State, which have killed millions of innocent civilians throughout the world. So is this a case of the pot calling the kettle black? Obviously!

When Obama ceases his indiscriminate Drone killings, abandons the use of secret 'kill lists,' illegal 'regime change' policies or the supremely destructive meddling in the affairs of other sovereign nations, thinking people, at least those able to add 2+2, may listen. But until Obama leads by example, he no doubt will continue to be viewed as one the most hypocritical full of shit leaders in recorded history, which he clearly is. His legacy will haunt his family for generations but Obama, the divorced from reality clown and servile puppet of the elites that he is, seems oblivious to the fact that his legacy and place in history would be alongside the most bloodthirsty and treacherous, mass murdering dictators the world has ever known; clearly Obama's insensitivity extends to his daughters and his future descendants, who after the world and America have taken stock, which is occurring as I write, would curse his name. No amount of propaganda or misinformation is able to hide the truth forever, as is very apparent today. The TRUTH, for sneering Obama's information is inviolable and remains so regardless of the comically feeble attempts by the CFR directed mass media to override or distort it. If anyone requires proof of the above simply view Obama's hypocritically tragic address to the UN GA.

Astonishingly, Obama remains insular and completely divorced from reality and continues to compromise himself on every occasion he opens his stupid, servile mouth, the only other leader that comes close to this level of DISCONNECT was former Australian PM, Tony Abbott, who was jettisoned by his own party in his first term before he could do any more damage to the nation and his peers/party, but the US political system does not afford this remedy to its parties, instead it invests that responsibility where it belongs, with the PEOPLE.

So, people of America, when you deem it necessary to use your arms use them wisely and prudently according to the Constitution AS INTENDED, and rid your nation of the criminals and parasites which currently have a hold over you.

Article by Paul Craig Roberts follows:

This Has Become Routine

In his comment on the mass shootings at the Oregon community college, President Obama said: "This has become routine."

So have police shootings of unarmed and unresisting Americans.

So have numerous other undesirable and deplorable happenings, such as the foreclosure on the homes of millions of Americans, while the "banks too big to fail" are bailed out with trillions of dollars, and such as foreign policy lies that have destroyed seven countries, bringing the US and Europe millions of refugees.

In addition there are the foreign policy lies that have brought the US and Europe into conflict with Russia, and the economic lies that shield the extraordinary concentration of income and wealth of the One Percent.

Also routine is Washington's obliteration of weddings, funerals, and medical centers with bombs and drones. Two days after Obama expressed his despair, frustration and anger over the Oregon mass shootings, a US air strike hit a hospital in Kunduz, Afghanistan. According to numerous news reports, at least 19 people were killed, including 12 members of Doctors Without Borders, and another 37 wounded. The US air strike killed one person on the operating table, and intensive care patients were burned to death in their beds.

For Washington, these mass murders are only "collateral damage," nothing warranting a presidential statement displaying despair, anger, and frustration.

Obama says he can do nothing about mass shootings, but he could certainly call off his illegal wars, and deep-six his reckless and coercive approach toward Russia before we are incinerated. As Vladimir Putin said at the UN, "We [meaning Russia] can no longer tolerate the state of affairs in the world."

Putin does not lie. When he says something, he means it.

Somebody in Washington had better listen to this man, because Washington is no longer The Unipower. There are now three superpowers -- Russia, China, and the US -- and probably in that order.

In America all forms of evil and corruption have become routine. Bob Dylan told us that vice and corruption have become routine: "People's lives today are filled on so many levels with vice and the trappings of it. Ambition, greed and selfishness all have to do with vice. ... We don't see the people that vice destroys. We just see the glamour of vice on a daily basis -- everywhere we look, from billboard signs to movies, to newspapers, to magazines. We see the destruction of human life and the mockery of it, everywhere we look."

Vice is Washington's signature. A fish rots from the head, and Washington has led our country into vice, greed, selfishness and the mockery and destruction of human life.

The Golden Rule is to "do unto others as you would have them do unto you." Allegedly, America is a Christian country. This means that Christian America is following Jesus' Sermon on the Mount in a masochistic way. Do we really want other countries to bomb and invade us, to reduce our towns and cities to rubble, to destroy our social and economic infrastructure, to kill millions of us and make most of the rest of us into refugees?

This is what America has done to the world. This is why Vladimir Putin said Russia can no longer tolerate the state of affairs in the world and why he asked America, "Do you realize what you have done?"
