

Contrition Does NOT Absolve you of your CRIMES Mr Blair

by james Sunday, Oct 25 2015, 9:56pm

international / prose / post

In a recent interview former UK PM Tony Blair, member of the coalition of willing criminals, along with John Howard of Australia and G W Bush, admitted the illegal -- under UN Charters and the Geneva Convention (pre-emptive war is simply a crime) invasion of Iraq which resulted in the deaths of millions, the destabilisation of Iraq and contributed to the rise of ISIS, which in turn has resulted in today's chaos and horror in the Middle East requiring the intervention of TWO superpowers.

However Blair only publicly admitted his criminality after the FBI discovered memos while investigating Hillary Clinton's emails for a Congressional inquiry into the Benghazi fiasco. Clearly the evidence against Blair and others at the highest levels of government, is undeniable, hence his recent diluted admission of a mistake and his 'apology,' which is related more to Blair's attempt to rewrite history and save his miserable skin than anything else.

Blair's actions in Iraq were pre-planned prior to the invasion, as the memos from Colin Powell clearly indicate. However, the PEOPLE of the respective nations that Bush, Blair and Howard were commissioned to honourably and legally lead had to be convinced to participate in an orchestrated, pre-planned, criminal invasion or pre-emptive war. Now NOTE the brazen and outrageous lies; Bush for his part used the pretext of non-existent, WMD, Blair stated to the UK parliament that Saddam was capable of launching an attack on the UK in "15 minutes," Howard, claimed he received intelligence from his lackey agencies that Saddam had purchased "aluminium tubing" required for the manufacture of a nuclear device - ALL LIES, the entire affair was pre-planned and orchestrated well before the invasion; however, with the assistance of the CFR directed western mass media, the then naive public majority in these three nations were convinced of a threat and the illegal invasion/war followed. However evidence, at the highest levels, of a pre-planned invasion blows the lid of everything and these three lying criminal leaders MUST be held accountable for their obvious crimes - the LAW and civilised morality DEMAND it!

Blair, a known consummate liar, condemns not only himself but the Bush and Howard governments and it's timely that one of the principal perpetrators finally 'blinked' though his attempt to avoid responsibility peppers his continuing lies to the WORLD in the interview, notwithstanding Blair is a known quantity today. A critical question arises, are the PEOPLE so stupid today as to believe the feeble attempts of proven criminal to rewrite history and absolve himself of criminal responsibility - I certainly hope not?

<http://commondreams.org/news/2015/10/25/tony-blair-admits-iraq-invasions-role-rise-isis>