

ISIL's Continuing Absurd Existence

by justin Monday, Nov 23 2015, 10:31pm

international / prose / post

I would raise TWO only searing points here and they are: the world has experienced two world wars in the 20th century, which were waged by roughly evenly matched opponent groups, nevertheless those WORLD wars ended in roughly 4-5 years with MILLIONS of combatants involved. ISIL, a meagre trifling fighting force in comparison to any national military, has persisted for over four years. WHY? Simply due to the fact that it is a proxy fighting force, supported trained and armed by cowardly national/State players. The fledgling ISIL was first deployed in Libya by NATO and the US and has now been let loose on the entire world to enable and facilitate the WESTERN elite agenda of redrawing the national borders of sovereign nations in the Middle East and secondarily to erode all the hard won freedoms and liberties of western populations by facilitating outrageous oppressive police state measures and methods.

Now, I would quote, Henry David Thoreau, "There are a thousand hacking at the branches of evil [western mass media] to one who is striking at the root [Russia]." Am I required to translate the "root" metaphor here? Perhaps, for the uninformed, ignorant, fearful and completely media-captured American population only. The "root" metaphor refers to the means of supply or life support; ISIL does not exist in a vacuum and this easily defeated small group of mass murdering criminals could not exist but for the support they are given by various cowardly criminal States, which are the USA, Israel, Saudi Arabia, Qatar, Jordan, UAE and Turkey - all of which nations have been named in the mainstream press for overtly supporting this proxy fighting group one way or another, also search this site for more than ample EVIDENCE of the fact.

So it would seem logical to abandon the perpetual mass media fascination with the "leaves" and focus all efforts on the "root" of this evil, poisonous tree.

Now of course Russia, though aware of every aspect of ISIL's existence is unable and unwilling to overtly attack the nations that support this cowardly terrorist group, however, it is doing a fair job of compromising same by exposing to the world the complicity of those nations in the barbarous crimes of ISIL, though its efforts are timid and late in the day. However, one force exists which is easily able to hold the elite criminal rulers of these nations to account and stem the needless bloodshed and (now) global destabilisation - take a guess!

That force is YOU -- shock horror, am I asking you to take responsibility for your life and the world in which YOU live, you're damn right I am -- the respective populations of the criminal States involved, though faced with their own cultural systems and methodologies are easily able to REMOVE the tiny evil elites that murder and kill their populations without a second thought, as of course evil is as evil does, and YOU are ENTIRELY expendable, as is obvious FACT today! So make your choice, be treated with the utmost contempt and cruelty or regain your FREEDOM, PEACE, stability and prosper.

The second point I wish to raise in support of striking at the "root" and regaining control of your criminally hijacked nations, is the absurdity of the 'effectiveness' of new terror related socially oppressive laws and the enhanced powers they grant police and intel agencies, which laws, if you remember, were implemented with YOUR acquiescent consent to “keep us safe;” which of course is a BIG LIE as the real intention is to contain any threat of revolt against criminal minority elites - you see, to the now undisguised criminal ruling elites, YOU, the people, are the enemy as indeed the criminal elites are the REAL enemy of the PEOPLE.

So the next time you are slaughtered in the streets or swallow any superficial/distractive thing that issues from the mass media/propaganda apparatus realise, if you haven't taken responsibility for your life and destiny, YOU DESERVE EVERYTHING YOU GET! It really is that simple and uncomfortably REAL.

Make a start if you haven't already and never imagine you are powerless or repeat that defeatist, timid phrase, 'what can I do?' Share this piece as widely as possible and if I may draw on another quote, 'ONE TRUTH defeats a BILLION LIES.' You are NOT as powerless as you are LED to believe.

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-1996.html>