

Amn

by don Friday, Oct 26 2012, 10:33am

international / poetry / post

rest easy amour
u weren't to know;
consider it a perfect harmonisation
intonation
reverberation
that carried u out of this world

vocalise ur escape,
from torment
to the easy undulations
of another world with rhythmic seas
and humming light

it was unplanned
ur departure,
accidental, tho u tempted fate once too often
and fate never forgoes
an opportunity
to steal a soul

ur frantic search
led u here, briefly
i felt a presence and turned there u were, confused dishevelled, u could not identify that for which u searched -- but all frantic minds
subside in the end
vision stabilises
and cognition returns

perhaps now we could return to the plateau
under the Egyptian sun
and bathe in its light
like days gone by
when as incestuous
brother and sister
we copulated in the rushes by the banks of the Nile the priests saw fit to Deify us -- our unnatural embraces produced a son

who became the Eye
of God completing a triadic dynamic, which persists to this day

i miss ur sad laments
and soul-rending songs
of love, heartache
and pain,
u tore urself to pieces in ur quest for fulfilment rest easy now my amour

the warble of night-birds will carry you to paradise
and peace

---

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-201.html>