

'Get a lot of blood on your hands, boy ... and hang for it!'

by staff report - Jungle Drum Newswire Wednesday, Dec 9 2015, 9:34pm

international / prose / post

The title is a variation of a popular song, however, it applies to the US/NATO alliance in a particularly direct way. The US and its collection of spineless lackey States and vassals have much to answer for regarding the horrific and needless spilling of INNOCENT blood over the past 15 years – since America made plain to the world in a publication (PNAC) that it is pursuing an insane agenda for hegemonic control over the entire globe.

Obama and Bush - mass murdering war criminals

Millions of innocents have already lost their lives and countless millions more have been displaced since America embarked on its clearly homicidal criminal agenda to rule the world at any cost. However, we shall focus on its latest criminal operations in Syria.

We note that Obama, in defence of Turkey's criminal action against Russia – SU-24 shootdown -- stated plainly to the world that Turkey has, "every right to protect its skies," well, Obama (a lawyer) does acknowledge international law when it suits him, however, that law applies globally to all sovereign states and nations particularly Syria and Obama is acutely aware of the fact. And so Obama and NATO lackey allies currently engaged in a clearly criminal bombing campaign in Syria, expect the legitimate government of Syria to defend its skies and repel, or otherwise destroy uninvited intruders – you can't have it both ways Mr Obama, your statement in defence of Turkey now forms a noose around your criminal lying, duplicitous neck, as Syria now possesses the ability to protect its sovereignty.

We need not elaborate, instead we refer interested readers to the many articles on this site covering recent developments in Syria for background information.

However, we would add that any nation that enforces existing laws that protect civilisation, peace and stability, should be supported and applauded by all law abiding nations and nations that flout these LAWS should be roundly condemned; furthermore, those nations and leaders that habitually flout and break laws designed over centuries to protect us all, should be held to account for their crimes and punished according to existing laws.

