

ISIL and its Criminal Links with the Western Criminal Alliance

by justin Saturday, Dec 12 2015, 3:23am

international / prose / post

First, it should be clearly stated that the ISIL group is not a nation or state as it does not fulfil definitions of same therefore it is unable to claim legitimate sovereign rights under international law and UN charters. ISIL resides in temporarily occupied territories of sovereign Syria and Iraq currently engaged in eliminating this criminal group.

Regardless of whether ISIL declares a Caliphate or creates a semblance to state structures it clearly remains only a criminal organisation involved in the mass murder of civilians, trading on an industrial scale, in stolen property especially oil and precious historical artefacts of sovereign nations. The receivers of stolen goods, NATO/Turkey and Israel, are therefore liable under international law for the losses incurred by Syria and Iraq. The nations that support this criminal group and facilitate the sales of stolen property should be extremely concerned about the inevitability of proceedings against them for the recovery of all losses.

ISIL is an organised crime syndicate similar to the American and Albanian mafia and other criminal gangs, however, the difference is in the support mechanisms of these groups.

The first overt instance of NATO allying itself to organised crime was in the Balkans where it overtly took sides in a fomented, by Germany, civil war in the former Yugoslavia. NATO and its US overlord brazenly attempted to establish the stolen Serbian province of Kosovo as an independent state and installed a known organised crime figure and terrorist wanted by Interpol, Hashim Thaci, as head of its pretend state, whose father-in-law just happens to be a leading figure in the Albanian mafia, which organisation is known to traffic huge quantities of heroin (bound for western Europe), weapons, human organs extracted from Serbian civilians and white slavery/prostitution.

The Kosovo branch of this criminal group is protected by NATO ground forces and the US to this day, which protection also includes the largest US military base in Europe, 'Bondsteel,' constructed in the stolen province of Kosovo; so do not be surprised when Russia exposes evermore connections between ISIL, NATO and the US, as the latter are known by their track record and the company they keep. I would add that Kosovo remains legally Serbian territory under international law and UN charters so its return to Serbia is inevitable once the entire sordid TRUTH of US/NATO criminality becomes public knowledge in the not too distant future. Serbia should commence preliminary actions both legal and military to restore its stolen territory NOW.

The incredibly inept and extremely foolish US administration has openly stated to the world that it supports what it calls 'moderate terrorists' in Syria, which are affiliates of al-Qaeda and ISIL, as these proxy fighting groups change sides and allegiances whenever it suits them, all the while receiving training, arms and support from the western alliance, Israel and US vassal Gulf states monarchies; however any thinking moral person is aware there is no such thing as a 'moderate terrorist' or moderate killer. The entire US public relations stunt to cover its criminal activities in Syria is a complete farce/charade as will soon be exposed for the entire world to SEE.

By no stretch of the imagination does ISIL pose a direct threat to any western developed nation that has a traditional military defence force, it would quite simply be wiped out if it dared overtly attack a sovereign western state. Its actions should therefore be viewed as they are, purely criminal in nature. The hysterics of the western media attempting to portray this organisation as a major threat to democracy is a ruse actually designed to eliminate democracy in favour of repressive police state total control - be aware and beware WORLD!

Fortunately, existing local and international laws were encoded and enshrined by noble men who clearly had the best interests of humanity/civilisation in mind. And it is these laws that the US and NATO flout almost daily. And so the legal mechanism already exists for the people, when the time comes, to enforce these laws and rid their respective nations of the vile criminal elements that have hijacked their governments and state institutions. Nevertheless, it is now time to prepare for the inevitable purging and plan for the restoration of representative democracy in all western nations.

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-2025.html>