

If You Are Able

to imagine a moving centre that is at once a centre and circumference u may get a glimpse if u are able to hear the thunder in perfect silence u may have a sense

if the centre u wish to hold and anchor ur life to is beyond grasping or apprehending u may have learned something of value

there is a state of awareness tho non-specific or measurable that spells perfection it reflects itself in the patterns of nature the perfect geometric forms that indicate continuity its harmony is beyond the empirical senses and out of reach to the most learned in the ways of mortals it is beyond time and defies space it is the realm of Gods that weave being into the nothingness that dance and kick galaxies into creation with their heels it is between the seen and unseen, neither inside nor outside, above or below,

it is beginningless and endless and permeates all things while harbouring no notion of self or identity

turn to it to locate ur perfect peace, love and fulfillment as it is sure unlike the transience of material manifestation or the perverse ways of mortals if u discover it u will see it everywhere and keel in its awe, bliss and ineffable Love - u would know it as the source and sustainer of all things it is open never closed to any thing everything exists in its ever expanding web tho it captures/grasps nothing not even itself u would locate it easily via selfless love or simply letting go and casting urself adrift in its shoreless sea of joy do not ask me how i see, see for urself
