

If the Truth be Known, WWII -- and Washington is to Blame

After the demise of the Soviet Union the USA had a golden opportunity to pursue peaceful, harmonious, stable and PRODUCTIVE relations with the entire world and prove itself to be truly the leader of nations. But what did it do instead, embark on a now FAILED megalomaniacal ambition to rule the world via military force. The cost of this criminal enterprise, as the past fifteen years verifies, is now being extracted from vassal and lackey States that supported this historically impossible, lunatic dream.

The EU is coming apart at the seams due to its obsequious pandering to Washington's now failed policies, enjoy the destabilisation; European puppet leaders are now faced with the grim REALITY, as the flow of refugees from US worn-torn North Africa and the Middle East flood into Europe -- Oh, what tangled webs . ., indeed! And that socially destabilising fiasco now combined with the reality of a clearly failed western economy, not least due to (Washington) forced unrealistic oil prices and other sanctions on US targeted nations, is bringing the WORLD to its knees, though some nations with a sense of sovereignty and national interest, would fare better than others.

The nefarious western Reserve Banking Cartel, which had a tight grip on all western national economies, has exacerbated the problem by printing worthless, non-production-based, paper money with drunken abandon. QE as it's known, has not stopped since it began in 2008, and as any first year economics student would inform you, printing paper money as a cure for a depressed real economy is a recipe for final economic ruin. Now, add the enormous cost, with virtually no returns, of fifteen years of DESTABILISING, illegal American perpetual wars and you have it in a word, FAIL, on a global scale.

However, you will never hear it on the privately owned western mass media/propaganda apparatus, which today is seen for what it is, the disseminator of illusion, distraction, misinformation and outright lies, isn't that right, you silly old fart (Jerry Hall) Rupert Murdoch? Your media demagogues and paid stable of 'journalists' simply cannot reconcile your simplistic and transparent propaganda with the reality the world now faces, search as you may for a bogeyman scapegoat; only ONE nation has pursued perpetual war, which has resulted in global destabilisation both socially and economically, well done Washington morons, that wouldn't know a history book from a comic.

So, without the effective numbing of the western population and the failure of fear campaigns, western leaders face massive social upheaval and unrest, and the European and American cries for justice and equality can now be heard even in far away insular Australia -- and that is saying something in the land of, 'she'll be right, mate!'

Fortunately the digital age is a two-edged sword of slavery and freedom, and some real news is available for those that seek real information, this and many other alternative sites specialise in bringing you the facts and informed analysis without fear or favour. And so I would urge readers to read and assess the information provided below and arrive at your own conclusions and perhaps begin to oppose the nefarious and completely incompetent powers that be. And never forget that war is the first option of self-seeking, evil and mentally unstable men.
