international / poetry / post old Lu loosened his robe the young inquirer anticipated an answer to his question fetch me a pitcher of water and a jar old Lu filled the jar to the brim empty the jar the questioner did as requested and poured the water onto the ground, empty the jar old Lu said again the young inquirer said he had emptied it as requested how do u expect to empty this jar when you cannot see that it is full?
