

Why Would Russia agree to a “Cessation of Hostilities” that excludes Washington's Proxy Fighters?

by cyd Wednesday, Feb 17 2016, 1:25am

international / prose / post

I mean c'mmon, Lavrov, Putin and the rest, you are on the brink of smashing the last major 'opposition' force in the critical Syrian-Turkish border region, and you would agree to cease your attacks; surely the humanitarian RUSE/pretext became completely transparent in Libya, while you watched an ally go under and a nation ruined. You must be kidding the world or yourselves if you imagine this 'cessation' is not a transparent TACTICAL ploy to stall and arrange for a larger confrontational force from the West?

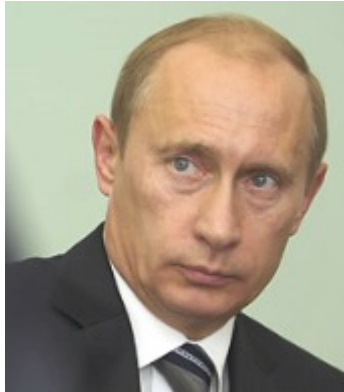

The Russian Bear

All this guarded diplomatic waffle by Russia about 'partners' and NOT declaring BLUNTLY that this is really a US/NATO Oil war, with a new opponent Russia, is ridiculous, analysts that make much porridge of blatant simple reality should be laughed out of print. THE REALITY is CLEAR for even a blind man to see.

The US has always resorted to a 'humanitarian crisis' ruse to militarily intervene in targeted nations, read history if you are unable to read reality pressing in your donkey faces! Tell the world the simple TRUTH, which America has arrogantly provided the proof for in its PNAC document that speaks of "Full Spectrum Dominance" and "Pax Americana," can't you see the colour of the sky? America is negotiating with its dick hanging out of its pants and no-one appears to notice. What is Kissinger's trip to Moscow all about, without even knowing the details I could assure the entire world it's a dastardly trick, a croc of LIES and deceptive crap. Kissinger is without doubt one of the most evil mass murders in history, you should have arrested him and placed on trial for his MANY heinous crimes, who would dare defend this evil killer, in a PUBLIC TRIAL?

If you start something you MUST finish it without delay and any interference; forget the western propaganda machine accusing Putin of everything from in-grown toenails to killing Pinocchio, without supplying a skerrick of evidence! The entire western military/media/propaganda mechanism is easily blown wide open if you act BOLDLY and decisively and speak the HARD, PLAIN TRUTH and continue your offensive against American/NATO proxy fighters. Any delay would result in a huge escalation in the Middle Eastern (yes, not Syrian only) Oil war, YOU know it, you GUTLESS Russians

-- your hesitancy betrays your cowardice!

Putin - mouse

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-2122.html>