Oo! So its a "show down" between Hillary and Trump, according to the mass media, well, is it? The new president has already been selected by the shadow government of the West, note I did not confine that to the USA. All western so-called democracies are in the firm grip of the global elite, and you can safely bet that they would never allow anyone they do not have in their pocket to assume the presidency of the world's most powerful nation. Or haven't you noticed how Obama is simply Bush on steroids -- pursuing the exact same agenda as Bush and the last few presidents before him. It was Bill 'Balkan' Clinton that began the big sell-out of the people and embarked on the elite (insane) strategy/agenda of American hegemony, laughingly also called "Full Spectrum Dominance" and "Pax Americana," and the elite never take the drugs they sell YOU, though they are as criminally insane as could be.

Clinton was promised the position at the time she was running against Obama, for the nomination, both Clinton and Obama were summoned to the Bilderberg meeting held in Virginia at the time and Hillary was told to wait her turn after Obama. So it's a "show down," according to the CFR controlled corporate mass media; well, shown down my arse, as Hillary has already won and the rest is pure carnival or more accurately, CHARADE to give banjo-playing Americans the impression they actually live in a democracy, haw, haw, to that!

Trump stands no hope against Clinton as everyone with three brain cells to bless themselves with realises he's a policy devoid ego-maniac, full of bluster and shit and nothing else, nothing he says actually makes sense in the real world, but do not expect lobotomised Yankee doodles to know anything about the real world, they've been living in a propaganda fantasy for the past three decades. What it all means is the show must go on ending in a hard fought tight finish but win for Hillary, give the thinking world a break!

However, for lobotomised yanks that means Trump loses big time, thanks for participating in the charade Donald, the dunderhead. What chance did he have from the start, zero and none, but the show must go on, while the corporate banker elites continue creating wars for THEIR profit while arranging 'trade deals' that also make huge profits and also give them legal rights to sue non-compliant signatory governments based on 'projected' (fantasy) profit losses. Everything's going to plan but who pays the heavy cost with more employment and lower living standards, and more social oppression? Why, you do, dummies, and you deserve everything that's coming and watch that evil bitch prosecute more wars based on orchestrated lies and created 'humanitarian crises,' or haven't you even figured that one yet? Yay, Hillary and goodbye American freedom and democracy -- the nation is run by gangsters and the majority of Americans are none the wiser.

In conclusion maybe I should reiterate, Yanks are dumb, I mean dumber than dumb, while they get it right up their stupid arses but stay tuned in and believe everything you are told by the privately owned mass media, you're sure to 'win'.
