

It's Always About Them -- Oz Politicians - NEVER the People

Well, surprise, surprise, the conservatives are in a panic over their plummeting polls and the lack of direction/competence/ACTION at the helm and so predictably, 'unexciting' PM, 'paralysed mullet' Turnbull called a press conference today to announce an early DD based, July 2, federal election, the consultants and marketers can't be wrong - or could they be? Not even the crocodiles in the Territory are surprised -- you see, it's always about them and their internal squabbling, consultant-led tactics/timing, and as usual, a hat full of rain for the AUSTRALIAN PEOPLE.

'Bill Turnbull'

Well, the PEOPLE are sick of all the SELF-INTERESTED navel gazing, internal paralysis, Oz going backwards and no positive relief for the masses since narcissists and fakers became populist but GROSSLY incompetent leaders.

The public has had enough and it will reflect badly for both corporate/ banker, elite serving major parties, which imagine their tissue-thin lies, false promises, and of late, meaningless BABBLE, has not made the beds they will lie in after the elections whenever they are held - you see, the consultants got it wrong, as usual -- it's too late, the public have twigged.

The people are turning to REPRESENTATIVE INDEPENDENTS with proven track records like candidate Tony Windsor, not sell-outs like the Greens, and in it for himself, sleazy Nick Xenophon and a few others that made a deal with the elite serving conservatives, which have a track record of selling all public assets and then blowing the money -- $40 million to relocate '4' refugees to Cambodia, for instance -- but what will these short term thinkers do when there's nothing left to sell?

Oz desperately needs real statesmen to lead the nation not these infantile, kindergarten, insular players attempting to deal with the globalised world in which we live today; both major parties have proven time and again they are not up to the task - both major parties are only capable of knee-walking to the corporate elite and Washington - neither is an appropriate solution for Oz, which now occupies a critical geopolitical region and could benefit immeasurably by competent politicians able to exploit our position, which means playing lackey to any foreign power is counterproductive and in some cases downright compromising and dangerous - American B1 nuclear bombers likely to be rotated in northern Australia, from which they would target China, which poses no threat to Australia whatsoever -- non-nuclear Indonesia remains the greatest potential threat to Oz, not China.

In any case, if the Oz public wants more of the same zero progress from our clearly incompetent, infantile major parties, then waste votes on Labor and the Liberal coalition, however, paralysed mullets Turnbull and Shorten might be in for the surprise of their puny, little, incompetent, consultant-led, insular lives!

The Australian PEOPLE are fed up and refuse to be deceived and IGNORED!
