

Take Back YOUR Nation

by ben Sunday, May 22 2016, 10:19am

international / prose / post

Today it is obvious, western and other governments do not represent the people they are commissioned to SERVE. Does anyone doubt it?

So why do you allow it, why would you sit back when the power to restore your nation is in YOUR hands? The CLEARLY criminal, non-representative interests that have hijacked ALL western governments imagine that they have your measure, they have LIED deceived and tricked you for decades YET you continue to do NOTHING to restore your nation and the life you once enjoyed.

You allow overt criminality by the state and now YOU pay the price, you're expendable. Do you imagine those in control of governments are not frightened of the inevitable; that at any time you will hold them to account for their innumerable crimes and either execute or imprison them for life and distribute ALL their ill-gotten gains back to the people/nation. This is neither capitalism or socialism, it simply is JUSTICE and fair play. The reason the elite are getting richer by the day and the average person is getting poorer is simply due to the fact that you have failed to act -- nothing is able to resist the determination of the MAJORITY, so why remain paralysed, is it because you have been trained to believe you are powerless? Nothing could be further from the truth, you do not require money or arms only determination to restore your lives and respective nations; minority criminal elites have no answer for an aware public DEMANDING JUSTICE, or else (the noose).

How is it that white collar criminals on Wall St and elsewhere (government) are able to flout the law with impunity? So many international and local laws have been broken over the past two decades by America and allied western nations one could hardly list them all, however, one need only list the most heinous like monumental financial and political FRAUD, which resulted in the collapse of the global economy, or how about mass murder for all the illegal wars of intervention and regime change?

The criminal elite have provided all the proof necessary to hang them, its all in the public domain, everything necessary is freely available except your participation in democracy and upholding the Constitution and Bill of Rights. Your action to restore honest government is entirely justified and perfectly legal, unlike the actions of the criminals currently in office.

What the fuck is wrong with you? Do you like being screwed or more likely are you so frightened that you are unable to move in any direction? C'mmon, read your history books and realise that systemic corruption and state criminality have ALWAYS resulted in revolution, do NOT turn on your TV or pick up your smartphone, arm yourself, because very soon if you remain passive you will need every weapon you are able to lay your hands on.

No one in their right mind could support the puppet candidates (to elite criminal interests) for national leadership today -- how much longer are you able to tolerate being screwed, lied to and OPPRESSED by the criminals you have voted into office, are you NUTS?

Do not imagine others will support you, act on conscience and let others live in slavery, allow your decency and INTEGRITY to show you the way, because you will never find those character traits in owned politicians/government or on Wall Street.

Be vocal in your criticism of overt criminality and corruption and soon you would start a brush fire that would turn into a raging inferno, as you are not alone, the vast bulk of humanity, share your frustration and concerns. But you must act alone if necessary, and have your day in court, where all you need do is simply speak the truth, it serves us all well as the State today exists on LIES and deception.

For those unable to physically oppose the rotten system, you are still able to vote, and never vote for any major party, vote for a mongrel dog before you vote for popular candidates, as they will sell you out, as sure as night follows day.

A person's life is the sum total of their actions, it is better to live and die like a lion than exist like a dog. You know it!

---

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-2240.html>