

The MH370 Cover-up Continues

Finally, 'experts' have admitted years after the disappearance of MH370 that they have been searching in the wrong place, a fact disclosed on this site at the time of the disappearance -- reasons explained as you read.

These same experts have also suggested that the doomed aircraft had been glided down intact, however, they fail to openly admit that computer control systems in all modern Boeings are able to be overridden by sophisticated ground controls, so they wrongly suggest that an on-board pilot may have glided the aircraft down, bunk, as everyone on board was murdered by decompression due to the aircraft exceeding its altitude limit, another known fact.

Indeed, the plane was already in the control of a sophisticated ground base in the Western Indian Ocean on the Island of Diego Garcia when it suffered decompression. It is also claimed that the aircraft was glided down very near that Island over a deep ocean trench where it would sink in tact, to minimise any tell-tale wreckage. However wreckage of course has been discovered in that region on the French Island of Reunion, the east African coast and perhaps Mauritius. So if you wish to find the plane follow the evidence of un-involved witnesses who witnessed a 777 aircraft flying west over their Islands out of known flight paths, which would add weight to a now very credible theory that the plane was downed in order to murder a number of high Tech company officials that held a patent for a revolutionary computer chip the secrets of which may have been revealed to the Chinese government or remained in the hands of R&D directors.

The patent is now owned by a 'Rothschild's company' -- the world should be well aware of the reputation of this nefarious elite family, said to be the richest in the world. And as we all know, with huge wealth comes criminal corruption and huge power, nothing is impossible for this family, which continues to work behind the scenes today as faceless rulers of the world.

Now to the alert that the search site was not off the west coast of Australia as former Oz PM, pathologically LYING Tony Abbott, claimed. How would he know and why should he lie? Answer to the first question is he didn't know, his incredulous search advice was based on an adrift shipping container; answer to the second question is simply that ALL Australian governments do exactly as they are told by Washington, which nation USA, is COMPLETELY under the control of the Rothschilds and global elite. Indeed, Tony Abbott was just too quick to make his assertion about the assumed location of the doomed airliner, given his well known acquiescence to the US and abysmal LYING record and lack of integrity. One fact became OBVIOUS, the doomed plane was nowhere near where PUPPET, LYING Abbott suggested.

Very few theorised the plane would be located in the Western Indian Ocean off Diego Garcia, nonetheless, enough eye-witness accounts and other testimonies, including technical data, were quickly backgrounded in the owned and controlled mass media at the time, all of which should have alerted authorities; it should also be noted that Diego Garcia houses a highly secret US military COMMUNICATIONS base, the only one in the area with the expertise and sophisticated equipment to override on-board computer systems and glide the plane safely (intact) to the water without an on-board pilot at the controls, where it would sink in a deep ocean trench to hide the crime.

There is ample evidence to suggest that this area SHOULD NOW BE SEARCHED as it has been avoided like the plague to date, notwithstanding numerous eye-witness accounts, technical data AND wreckage washed ashore in the area. However, we are also aware that the powerful global elite are loath to find the plane where they know it rests. So it becomes a matter for the experts, the Chinese, Malaysian and Australian governments and the PEOPLE, especially the families of the murdered passengers and crew, to relentlessly pursue -- it is not too costly to search a specific location! Again, will, or lack thereof of the people would determine whether this mystery is solved in time for the culpable to be held to account and to expose the entire sordid crime to the WORLD.

[A lesson for the nefarious shadow government of the US: never send an incompetent, known scurrilous LIAR to do your dirty work -- Aussies smelled a rat immediately.]
