

Oz Census: Turnbull's Deluded 'Absolutes'

by darcy Wednesday, Aug 3 2016, 10:59pm

international / prose / post

It is clear that narcissist Oz PM Malcolm Turnbull is a political dunce. Politicians learn very early in their careers NEVER to make absolute statements, as it is these that cause the most grief for any politician -- as these statements always prove incorrect.

Politically inept fool, Malcolm Turnbull

Take for example the current public outrage about the compulsory census -- $180 per day fine for not complying to demands after the expiration date -- notwithstanding the invasion of privacy as identities are now required to support personal data. People around the world have had enough of State snooping and compromised personal data storage and are justifiably reacting.

The Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS) now wishes to digitally store all personal data for four years, allowing for many breaches in security -- please bear in mind, the old hacker adage, "anything one person makes another person can break," and so it goes the longer data is retained the less safe it is, fact!

However, full of himself and his personal fantasies, PM Turnbull has declared that the security of personal data is "absolutely" safe as it's protected by law. LAW! Tell that to the hackers that specialise in identity theft (now in plague proportions) and penetrating huge government databases for personal gain and State compromise. The fact is no-one is able to guarantee security in the digital realm, except of course, full of shit, political dunce, and disconnected from REALITY Malcolm Turnbull.

It is not surprising that many Aussies have chucked the census letter in the bin, as the leader of the nation is incapable of apprehending basic facts and the prevailing REALITY; notwithstanding that he will soon choke on his "absolute" declaration based on IGNORANCE and political INEPTITUDE.

Turnbull is living proof that former bankers and disconnected elitists are not equipped to enter politics and lead nations. Draconian tactics regarding outrageous fines for not complying with UNREPRESENTATIVE government demands also affront the Australian people and our freedom-loving culture, but please do give it your best deluded shot, you petty little Stalin/Hitler, Mr

Turnbull.

<http://www.abc.net.au/news/2016-08-03/census-turnbull-defends-security-of-private-details/7685664>

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-2317.html>