

So Long, Leonard

by rayn Thursday, Nov 10 2016, 6:43pm

international / prose / post

Leonard Cohen has 'kicked the frame' at 82, but as outstanding poets know, we all continue to write in the effulgence of universal creation. At times we see a work inscribed by a comet on the medium of the night sky; this universe is saturated in creative delight -- it never ceases.

People with the sense sojourning on this troubled sphere will miss one of our own. You have been released comrade, delight in your new journey and freedom.

Leonard Cohen