

Americans -- Do Not Fall for the Usual Post-election Anaesthesia

by justin Saturday, Nov 12 2016, 9:22pm

international / prose / post

The global ruling elite are not altogether unhappy with Trump's ascendancy to the White House, after all he's a billionaire and emerged from their ranks. Notice the stability of ALL elite enterprises, primarily the stock market, it only fluttered for a day, less in fact than the Brexit impact. So all appears fine in the shadowy halls of elite global power.

Now consider that Republicans own the Senate and Congress, populated by elite 'career servants' and a picture easily forms, the dastardly, criminal STATUS QUO of war, theft and mass murder, formulated by the elites to increase their wealth/power, will continue uninterrupted -- you can back it in.

Trump, true to form, will cut deals left right and centre in order to maintain his position; the majority of his promises will go the same way as elite servant Obama's, who promised justice, change, reduced wars and benefits to the nation, what a laugh! As soon as Obama was installed as president it was full steam ahead with the elite's STATUS QUO, it didn't miss a beat, Obama predictably backflipped on 99.9% of his promises; remember his 'looking forward not backward' crap when people expected to see most of the criminal (proven) Bush administration behind bars after appropriate trials.

Obama accelerated imperial conquest and illegal acquisitions for his elite masters and left the people to do their best with globalisation, 'free trade' (for whom?), offshoring jobs, and other self-serving corporate designs. So much for the American presidency!

Given that the Status Quo has not missed a beat since Bill Clinton's presidency, if anyone really expects change under Trump, then you are sorely deluded. So what to do in order to restore a stolen nation and RETURN it back to the people? Answer: maintain momentum, and pressure on a thoroughly corrupt government apparatus and continue to demand that popular leaders follow through and DELIVER what they promised -- otherwise enjoy getting screwed where it hurts most.

This election IS DIFFERENT -- people are truly ANGRY over the injustices, hardships they have NEEDLESSLY suffered and the deprivations they have been dealt by the avaricious, self-serving elites. HARNESS THAT ANGER/PASSION AND CHANNEL IT WHERE IT WILL DO THE MOST GOOD. HOLD OUR DUPLICITOUS LEADERS ACCOUNTABLE AT ALL TIMES and you would end the corrupt, criminal, elite-serving STATUS QUO.

Elites are always anxious after major elections, they are acutely aware their political puppets will sell-out the people so the elite-owned mass media goes into overdrive to pacify the masses and defuse any possible explosive situations. We are already hearing, 'we don't know what Trump will do, so "give him a chance."' HOWEVER, WE DO KNOW HE MADE PROMISES AND WE MUST ENSURE HE KEEPS THEM, otherwise it's Obama redux, and look where that got the nation, more benefits for the elite and sweet fuck all for the people, not ignoring all the accelerated international American supported wars and increased conflict/destabilisation on a scale not seen since WWII. Always ask yourself who benefits? Surely not the common folk fighting corporate wars and other common folk defending their nations against corporate thieves.

It is OUR DUTY to ensure that leaders maintain their INTEGRITY -- the entire world is sick to death of political LIARS. So be aware and beware the first BIG LIE (of many more to come) to placate the population and return it to passivity, deprivation and SLAVERY!

Trump has created the circumstances that will either make him or end with a bullet in his head. I do not envy his position, he's damned both ways, so we'll see how smart and brave he really is.

---

Jungle Drum Prose/Poetry. <http://jungledrum.lingama.net/news/story-2411.html>