try not to think,
ruminating only
increases the presence which u would rather forget

but are we truly able to forget?
is it not all recorded on macrocosmic and microcosmic mediums?
we know it

so deal with it and resolve the issue that confronts otherwise it will haunt you and cause all manner of grief.

there was a time when this planet lacked water, it was lifeless.
frozen waters from space impacted the dry earth and found a home;
water flowed from the seas into the air and fell to the ground to return to the seas,
and so it goes today
the earth enabled the waters of life to remain here locked in a cycle of sustaining activity.

-- the dominant feature of this earth is water, all life is subordinate to its influence, yet, water originated in cosmic space -- river grasses flow dancing effortlessly in the current

-- slow undulating motions -- moving submerged.

it's easy to let it all go in close proximity to large bodies of water; we are terrestrial water beings and connect to the flow instinctively/easily if we allow the water to answer -- it's always been our mother we move with its natural rhythms joyfully or move against it painfully.
